FACULTY

Woods, Board Set New Plan

The key word at the adminstrative level of education in Palos Verdes is "change." According to Dr. Thomas E. Woods, superindent of schools, the community may look forward to a new educational attitude towards curriculum changes in such subjects as social studies and a new level of communication between the administration and faculty.

Other new ideas were the leadership camp and flexible scheduling. This new scheduling program was adopted because different periods of study may be required for different classes. As urgently as this change is needed, Dr. Woods says, it may take up to ten years to complete under a closely controlled program.

Working with Dr. Woods, the Palos Verdes Board of Education has continued its efforts in advance planning, recruiting new teachers, and keeping the rapid expansion of the Palos Verdes Unified School District an orderly one.

SAMPLING CAFETERIA food, Superintendent Thomas Woods discusses student aims with ASB President Gary Beeks.

DISTRICT ADMINISTRATION—Dr. David H. Miller (Assistant Superintendent of Educational Planning and Personnel); Dr. Andrew Joyce (Director of Elementary Curriculum).

DISTRICT ADMINISTRATION—Mr. A. H. Fuller (Director of Educational Housing); Dr. Frank Williamson (Assistant Superintendant in Charge of Educational Instruction); Mr. James Crockett (Business Manager).

PRINCIPAL FRANK W. FERGUSON—
B.A., Pepperdine College; M.S., USC.

Administration Has New Look

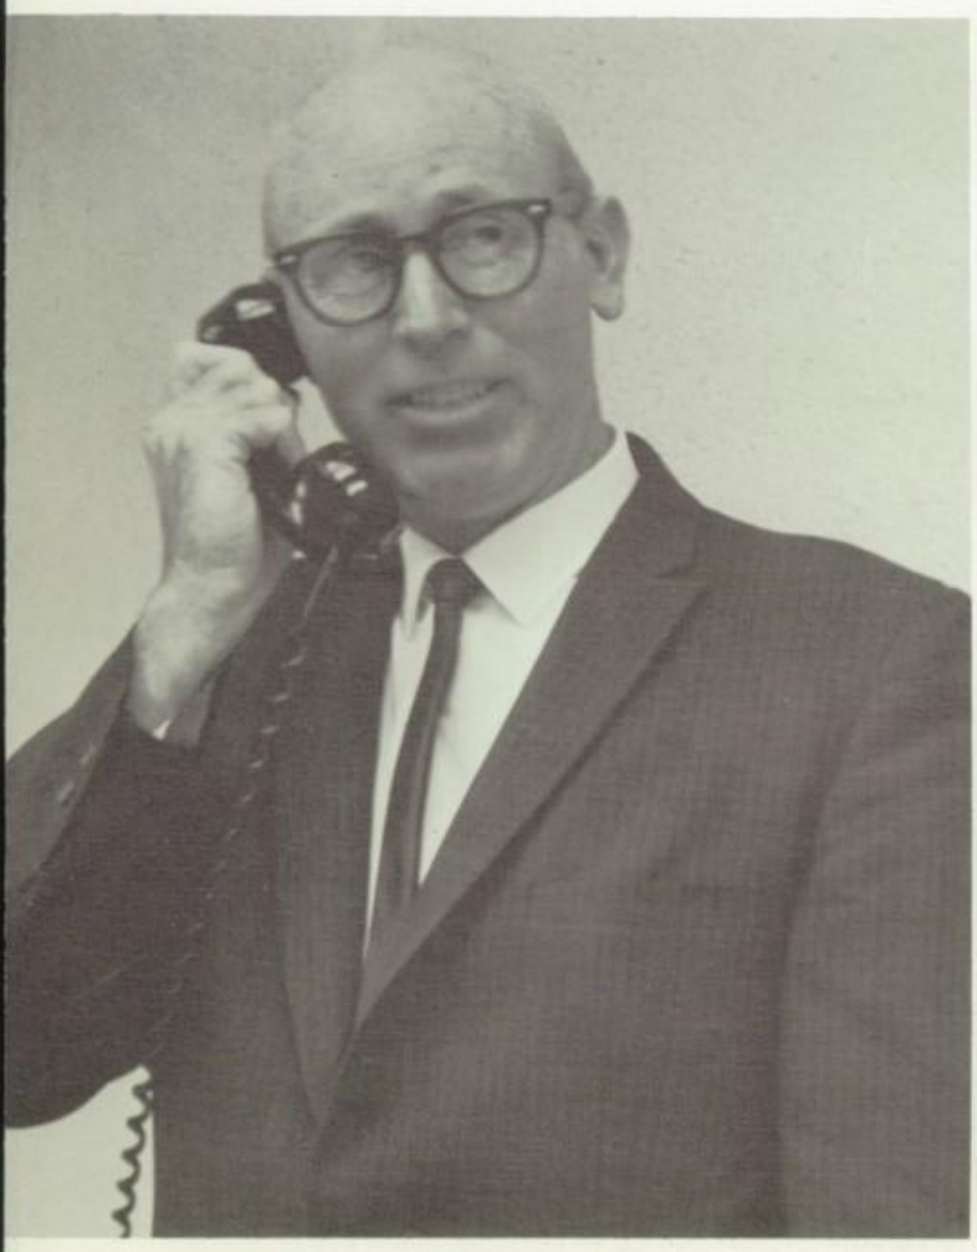
Completing his second year at RHHS, Principal Frank Ferguson finds many changes have occurred. The most significant is the increase from 2100 to 2650 students. Both faculty and course offerings were enlarged to accommodate the increase in students.

Assistant Principals Arthur J. Townley and William O'Rourke aided Mr. Ferguson by combining efforts to unify the activities of the upper and lower classes and to coordinate the school's philosophies and policies.

Sharing the school duties, Mr. O'Rourke oversaw athletics, boys' discipline, and the Silver Spur Wing. Mr. Townley supervised curriculum, guidance and counseling.

Filling a new position at RHHS at the start of the second semester was Mrs. Beatrice Cron, dean of students. Her main responsibilities included girls services and the attendance program.

MR. ART TOWNLEY - B.A., M.A., California State College at Los Angeles; Assistant Principal in charge of curriculum, guidance and counseling.



MR. WILLIAM O'ROURKE—B.A., USC; Assistant Principal in charge of Silver Spur Unit.

MRS. BEATRICE CRON—B.Ed., Chicago Teachers College; M.P.E., Northwestern University; Dean of Students.

Moore, Claire Aid Activities

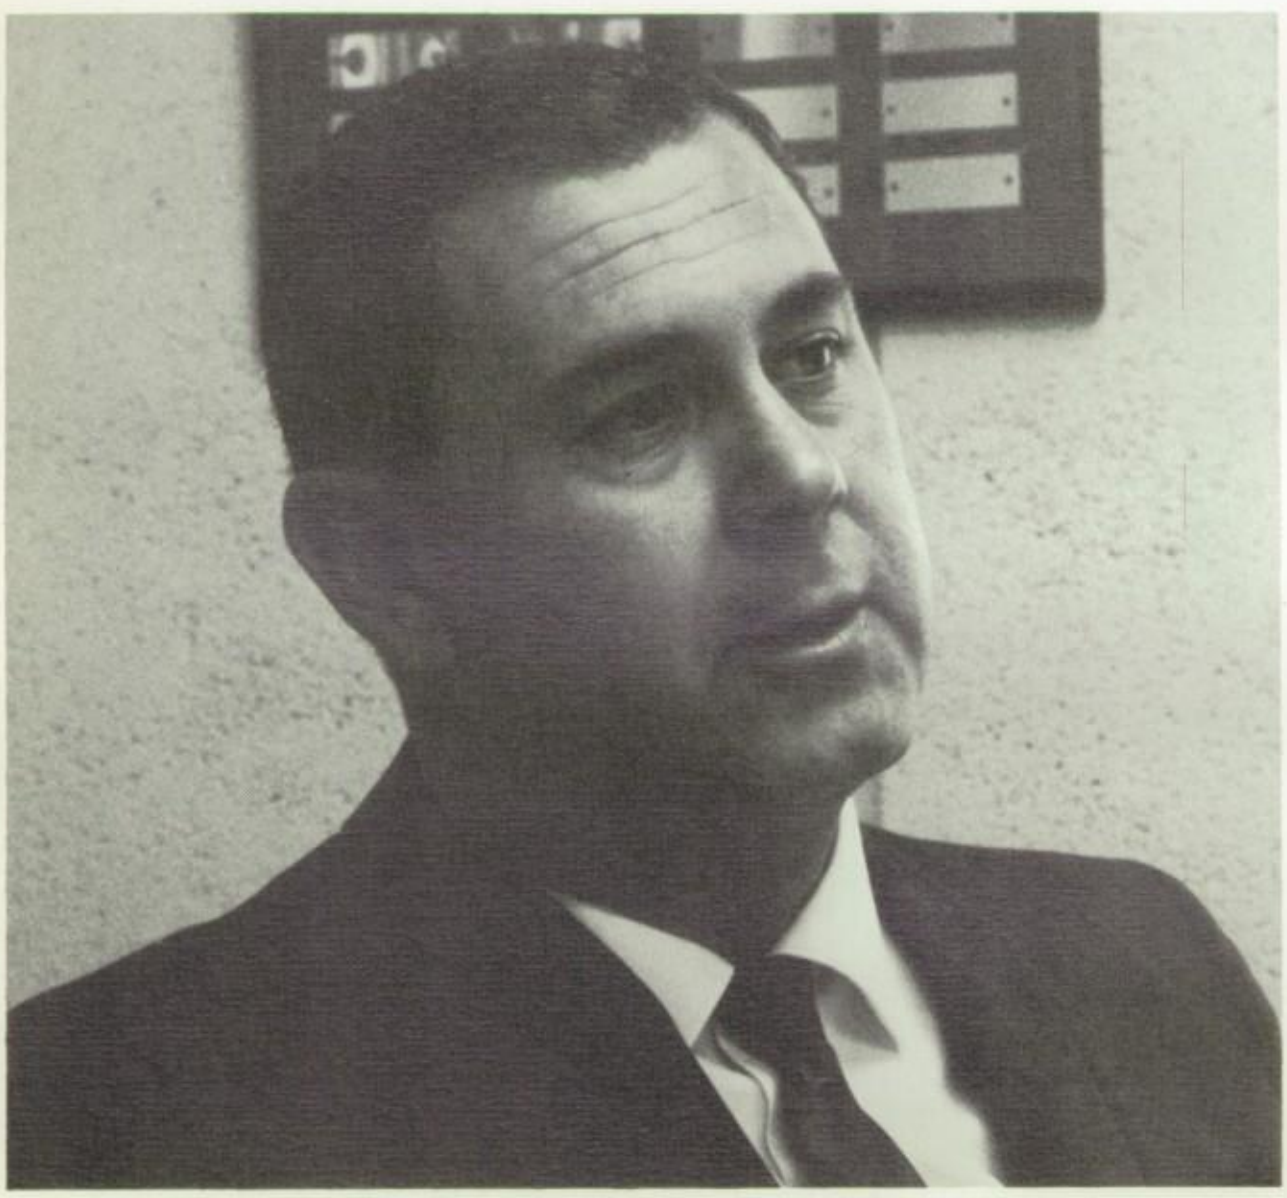
Two important administrative posts were filled this year by Mr. Edward Moore and Mrs. Rosemary Claire.

Observing campus functions and students, Mr. Moore worked at RHHS to become better acquainted with the workings of a high school. Next year he will be one of two assistant principals at Miraleste High School, which is currently under construction.

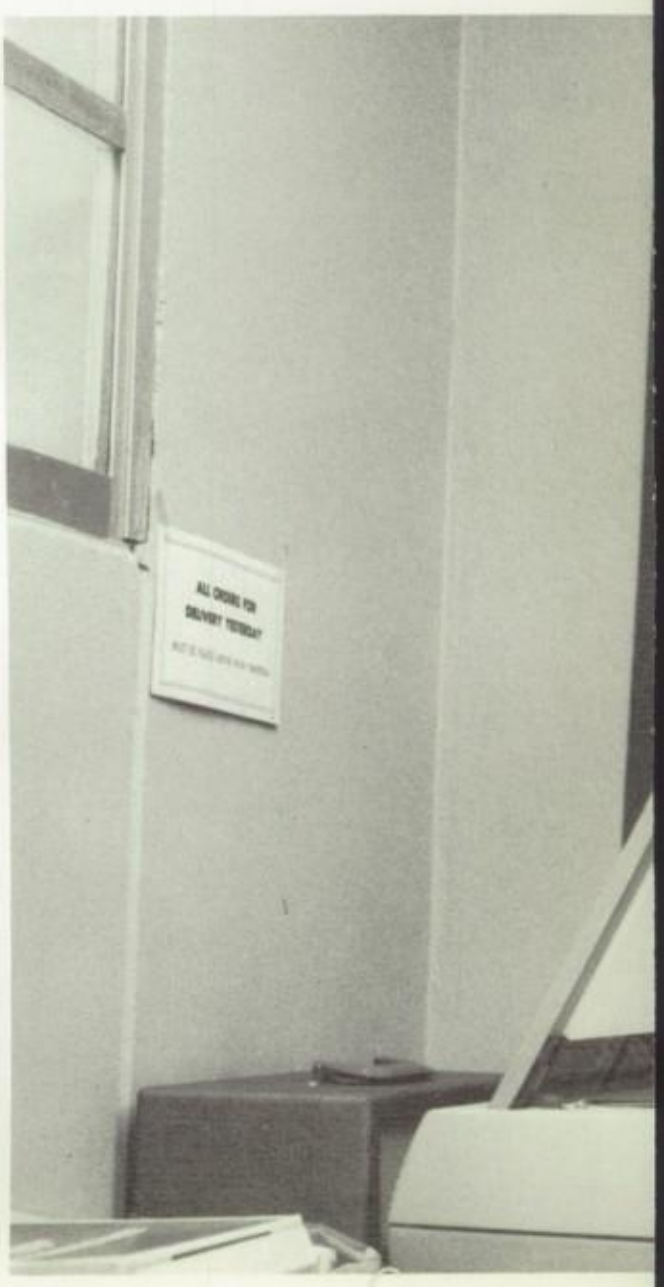
To prepare for Miraleste's opening, five ad-hoc committees were formed to recommend policy concerning various aspects of student life. Made up of Miraleste-bound freshmen and sophomores from Rolling Hills and Palos Verdes High Schools, the committees were directed by Mr. Moore.

Ever since the opening of Rolling Hills High School, Mrs. Claire has directed student activities. An administrational post, the director coordinates all on-campus student activities outside the classroom. Mrs. Claire also taught Far Eastern History.

MRS. ROSEMARY CLAIRE - B.A., University of California at Santa Barbara; Far Eastern History; Student Activities Director.

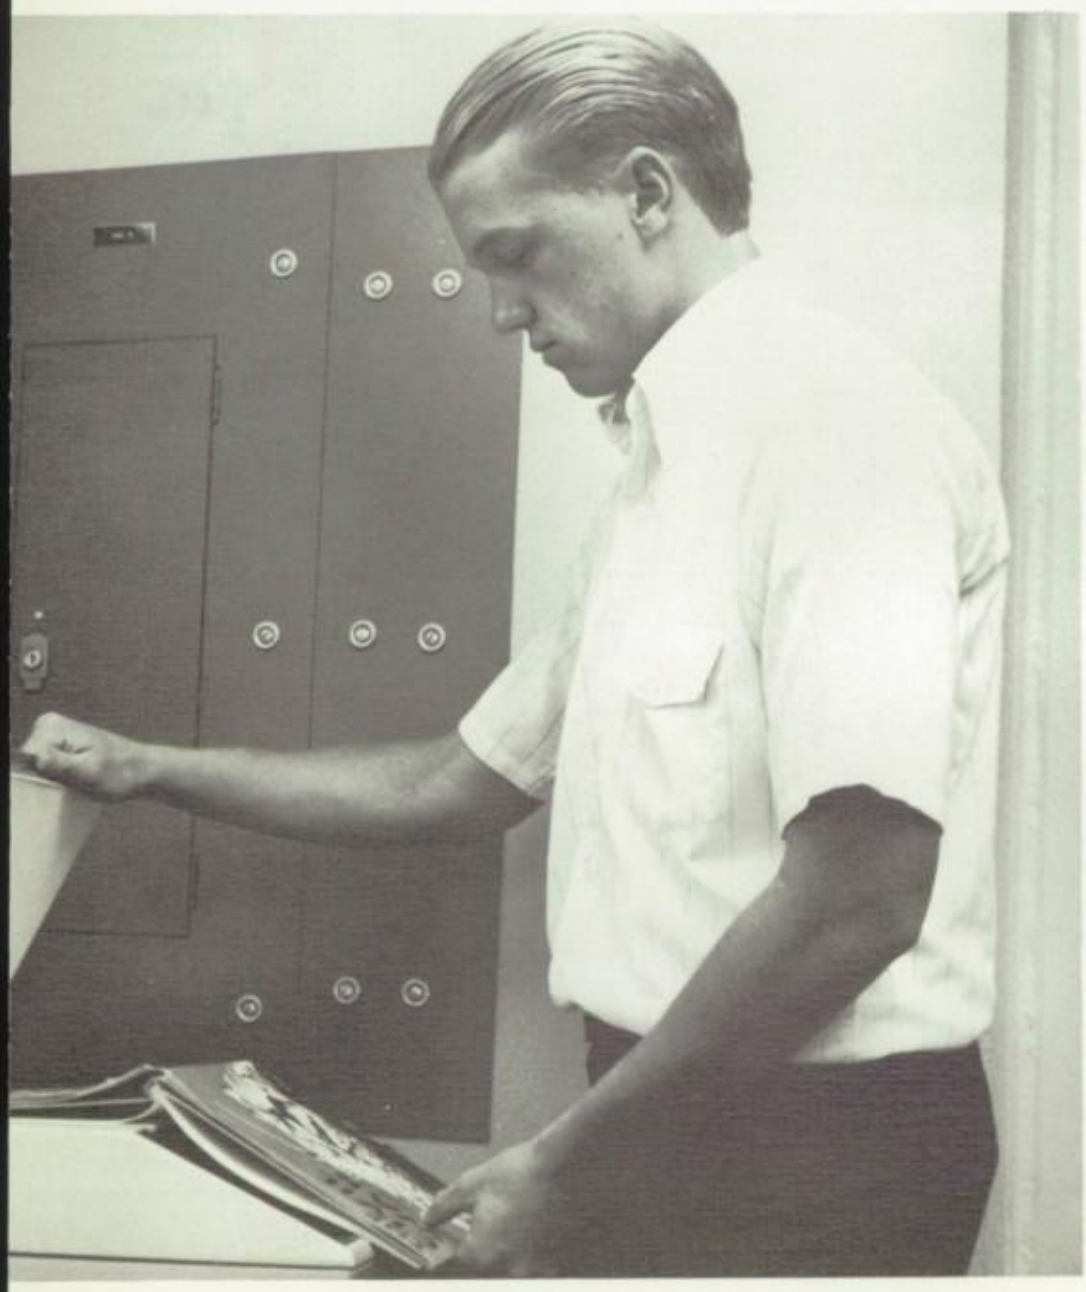


MR. EDWARD MOORE—B.A., San Diego State College; M.A., California State College at Long Beach; Assistant Principal in charge of Hawthorne Unit; Assistant Principal at Miraleste.



MRS. NANCY PAPPAS—B.A., San Fernando State College; M.L.S., UCLA; School Librarian.

MISS RUTH HOPKINS—B.A., M.A., California State College at Long Beach; R.N., Washington Sanitarium and Hospital; School Nurse; Medics Club.



Offices Fulfill Student Needs

The increase in the number of students this year added to duties of the health office and library. Both facilities provided services for students, aiding them in their education.

Counseling between 80 and 100 students a day, nurse Ruth Hopkins aided students with individual health problems, accidents, emergencies, arranging home teaching and giving vision and hearing exams for driver education.

Another important responsibility of the health office was health counseling. By helping students understand how to keep themselves healthy, the office served both the school and community.

Changes in the library provided seating for over 100 students, shelf space for 2,000 new books, and reservation and unlimited circulation of books. Head librarian Mrs. Nancy Pappas, assisted by Mrs. Betty Jean Newlin, opened the library smoothly in September with freshmen orientation, which acquainted frosh with library procedures.

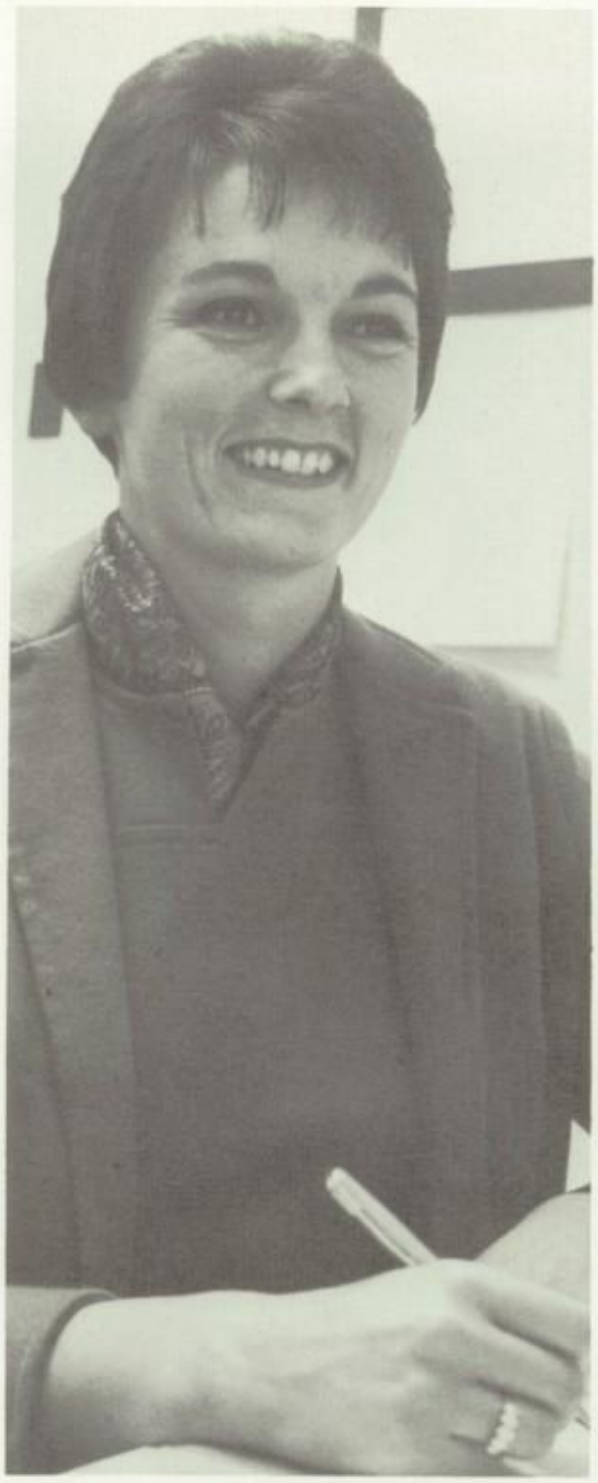
UTILIZING ONE of the many conveniences of the RHHS library, junior Scott McIntosh copies a civil war document on the photostat machine.

Counselors Aid Student Plans Now, in Future

For the first time, the counseling staff used computers to schedule students. The counselors' burdensome task of programming was lifted by machines and allowed them to spend more time in individual counseling.

With needless paperwork ended, counselors had time to innovate another means for discussing problems with students. A group of four to five underclassmen would meet with their counselor to discuss difficulties of school life. This method was extremely helpful in acquainting freshmen and sophomores with RHHS.

MRS. JOANNE MEDVED—B.S., Bryan College; M.S., Indiana University; Sophomore Counselor.



MR. DANIEL BOONE—B.S., East Central State College; M.A., California State College at Long Beach; Freshman Counselor Attendance.

MRS. ARVILLA GREGOR—B.S., M.S., Kansas State College; Junior Counselor.

School Plant Efficiency Goal of Staff

GROUNDSMEN—John Pinkerton, Dick Ray (head groundsman), Edgar Lingwal, Eugene Keck, Keith Parker.

With the addition of 250 students at RHHS, the custodial and clerical staffs have helped make crowded conditions livable.

Organized by Mr. Lewis Ladd, the custodians spent eight hours daily cleaning rooms, fixing pencil sharpeners, and performing other custodial work. Groundsmen kept up campus facilities by replacing grass and plants, seeding the baseball diamond, and preparing the football field and tennis courts for games.

Meeting student demands, the cafeteria staff prepared special lunches during Homecoming Week, and varied menus according to student requests. Also for student and faculty convenience, seven new secretaries were added to the staff this year to make clerical work more efficient. Their duties included making appointments, keeping records and correspondences, and serving as a liaison between the school and its administrators.

MRS. LOUISE RICHARDS—Teacher Assistant

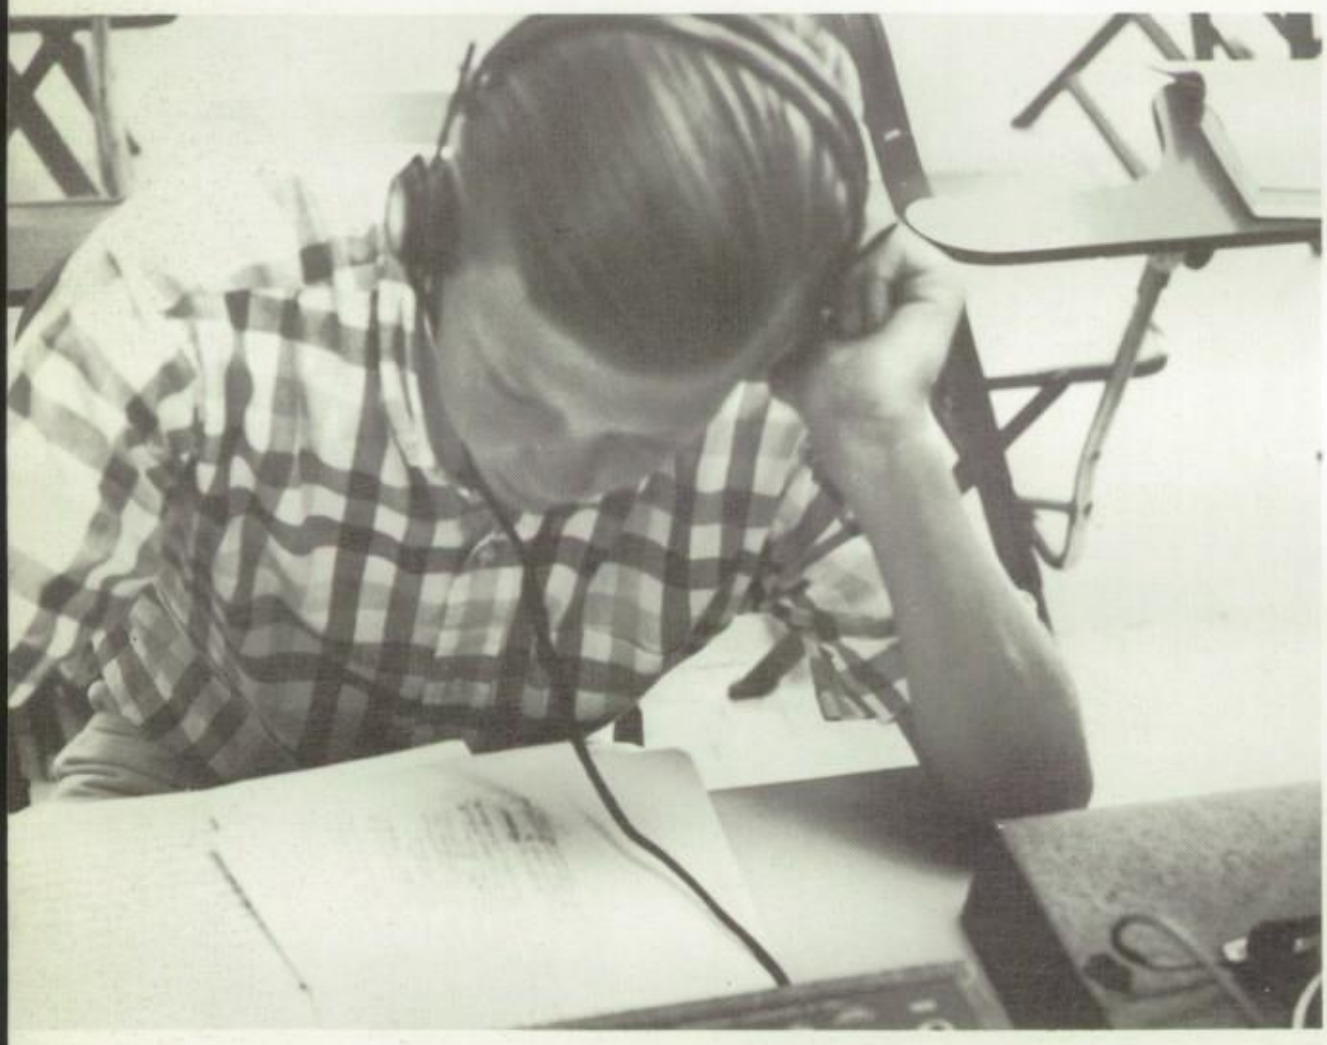
MRS. KATHRYN URUBURU—Teacher Assistant

Inaugurating a new system of class scheduling, RHHS introduced flexible scheduling to sophomores and juniors enrolled in certain course combinations.

Designed to permit students to explore wider academic horizons through in-depth study, the system also helped them to accept personal responsibilities for self-learning.

Breaking away from the 55-minute period, flexible scheduling had no regular time assignment to the three subjects, but varied time as the occasion demanded. A two-hour lecture in English could be followed by an hour study hall, or students might be divided into small discussion groups for the entire morning.

Scheduling Tests Student Responsibility



AS A PART of the new flexible scheduling program, Neil Martin listens to a taped lecture he had missed. Book reports and lectures were taped to aid students in reference work.

English Classes Amplify Studies

Emphasizing literature and the art of writing, the English department modernized their courses this year. No longer was the department using such "warhorse novels" as A Tale of Two Cities.

The program was also amplified through the addition of 16 new paperback books. According to Mr. Eugene Kasper, department head, "These new paperbacks showed a literary broadmindedness."

The books were ordered for their common importance at all grade levels. While such books as Dante's Inferno were geared to special areas of study, the majority fitted into the classwork of regular courses.

MRS. SUSAN WINTHER—B.A., Purdue University; English I, II; AFS.

MISS MARTHA DILLNER - B.A., Arizona State University; M.A., University of Illinois; English Composition; English Literature.

MRS. BARBARA BROWN—B.A., Marshall University; English I; Developmental Reading; Freshman Class Sponsor.

MR. JAMES WHITING - B.A., Whitman College; M.A., Claremont Graduate School; English II, III; Powder Puff Football Coach.

MR. EUGENE KASPER—B.A., De Paul University; M.A., University of Chicago; English III, IV; English Department Chairman.

We're living in an age of transition, of cynical questioning of the establishment by a body of dissidents who are not satisfied with the social or the aesthetic status quo. Is this the type of personality that I'm trying to develop in my classes? Emphatically NO! Thinking and questioning must be based on knowledge and background. That's what I want to give my students—a background so solid that they will develop the self-confidence necessary to pose the right questions, to effect beneficial change, and to serve as bulwarks against destructive cynicism. English serves such goals best because its literature teaches students about all of life via the heart and the emotions, and its skills of clear communication enable them to express themselves effectively in posing the right question, whether the concerns be pragmatic or aesthetic.
—Mr. Eugene Kasper

Teaching is the art of helping another human being attain a philosophy that will afford him the greatest degree of happiness in his life. The concepts and ideas which are offered by the English department help the student gain a lasting enjoyment of the one thing that is bigger and better than all our frustrations, anxieties, sufferings and loneliness—life itself. An enthusiasm for life in its various forms is beyond all great literature. Through contact with a teacher who appreciates, communicates and activates this enthusiasm, a student may develop a pride in fulfilling his potentials.

Park Eases Learning Atmosphere

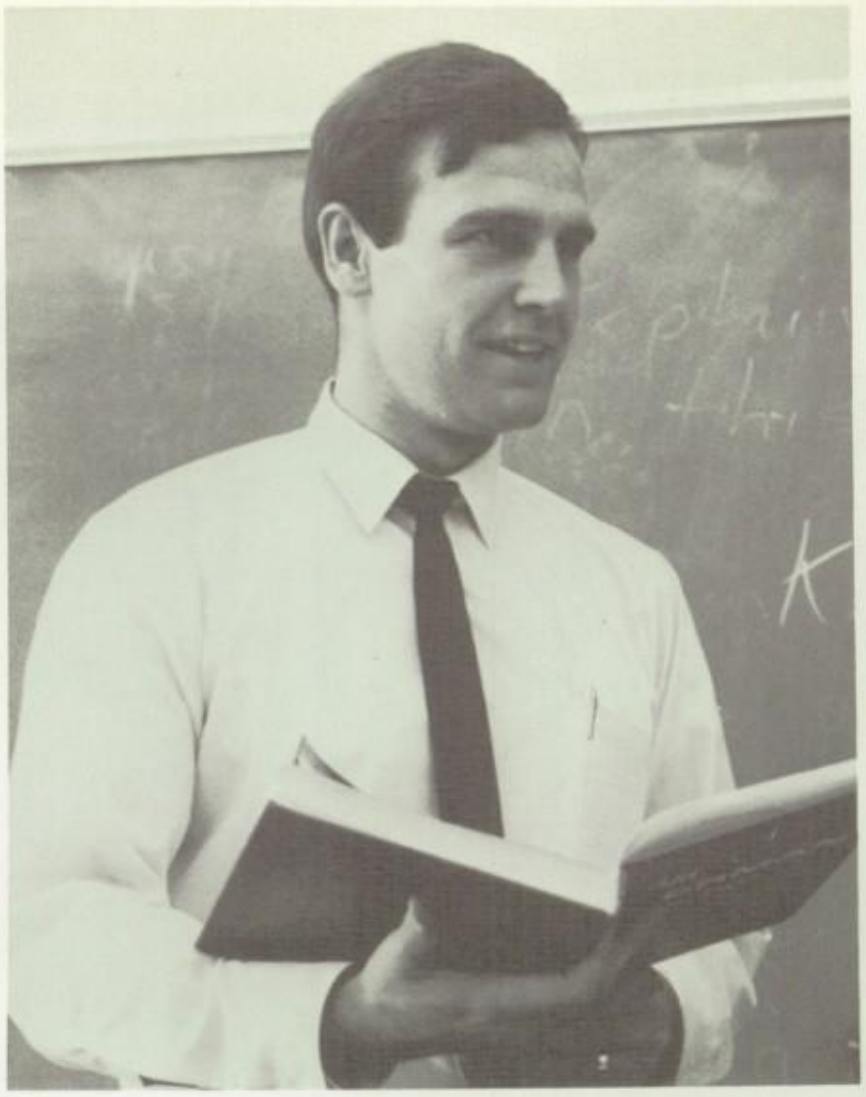
SUBSTITUTING THE LESS functional atmosphere of Senior Park for the classroom, Mr. James Whiting conducts a discussion with his sophomore Honors English class. Indian summer conditions drew classes outside during September.

ALM Foundation Of Lingual Study

Despite a change in department chairmen this year, the RHHS foreign language department functioned smoothly. Offering French, Spanish, German and Latin, the department prepared students for college level work.

Mr. Joaquin Acosta, Mr. John Brueckner's successor as department head, stressed the ALM teaching method. This concept, basis for the language courses I, II, III, was supplemented by the advanced courses of French and Spanish IV and V.

Language students received numerous awards from the community and school, with the department itself honoring its top scholars.



MR. LARRY BAUER—B.A., USC; French V; German I, II; German Club.

The foreign language department at RHHS has a three-fold responsibility to any student who wishes to learn a second language. First, the program must provide the opportunity for achieving a reasonable speaking control of a second language. Next, the department must provide the opportunity for achieving a basic understanding of other peoples, both in the native environment and in this country. We want our students to know how the foreign born think and act on all matters. Finally, we must provide the opportunity for an even greater development of reading and writing skills which will open the doors to literary and aesthetic contributions by other peoples. Those of our four and five-year students who continue in college must be well prepared to function totally in the special worlds of French, German or Spanish, be it French Morocco, Paris, Munich, Switzerland, Argentina, Mexico, Nicaragua or Spain.

Social Science Stresses Ideas

An understanding of the background philosophies and events which formed the United States was gained by students in required social science courses. Geographical conditions and political ideas behind American history were taught in Western Civilization, while juniors traced the development of social, political and economic systems in United States History classes. These courses led to senior study of economics and government.

Western Civilization provided a historical study of European countries and cultures, as well as supplying information on other parts of the world. Supplementing this basic course, many students broadened their social science education by taking one of several electives offered. Recent European, Far Eastern, and Latin American history emphasized various aspects of those regions' growth. Guided by department head Engin Uralman, teachers employed audio-visual aids and outside reading to supplement regular instruction.

Young people are notoriously present-minded. What happened before the dawn of their own conciousness seems so distant as to be irrelevant to their present concerns. Such indifference creates the peril of insufficient continuity in human experience. Thus there is always a "battle of generations." Seen in this light, the educational process is a ceaseless effort to acquaint the younger generation with the experiences of the old. The historian's task is infinitely more complex. The further back he pushes in time, the farther removed the past becomes from the present. How to make the past real, understandable and meaningful, these are the questions with which the historian must grapple.

It has been said that history is the "seamless web" connecting the present, the future, and the past into one uninterrupted fabric. The rare beliefs of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; the value of personal and property rights; and the subservience of the state to the individual have been hammered out on the anvil of history. If we can concur with the Greek assumption that "man is the measure of all things," then certainly to understand America, Americans should investigate the very nature of human existence, whether in a political, economic, or social context.
—Mr. Douglas Noble

Rahman Teaches Special Courses

Playing a vital role in the academic system at RHHS was the special education program. This program dealt with the personal adjustment and self-acceptance of the students involved. In preparing the students for community life, Mr. James Rahman orientated them about the various aspects of obtaining and keeping a job.

Observation Key to Lab Techniques

MR. PHILLIP BOTTOLFSON—B.A., University of Iowa; Chemistry; Science Department Chairman.

New teaching methods, theories and emphasis during 1967-68 made the science department an area "where discovery is the key to understanding and knowledge of the world," according to department head Phillip Bottolfson.

Mr. Bottolfson, his staff of nine instructors, and numerous lab assistants centered study on the laboratory, with emphasis on individual discovery. To broaden the departmental scope, several new classes were added to the curriculum. Now students could take courses ranging from basic earth science to Chem Study in chemistry or advanced physics.

New theories of teaching have also been introduced this year. No longer is science study based on memorization and repetition, but with the aid of flexible scheduling, learning of concepts is stressed.

Science has, since man's early beginning, enabled him to improve his standard of living. This may have been accomplished by the invention of some new weapon of defense. During the past two or three decades, the advancement of science and its implications to the public have been astronomical. If our society is to meet the challenges of this knowledge explosion, students must be exposed to math and science in order to acquire an understanding and appreciation for our scientific potential.
—Mr. Phillip Bottolfson

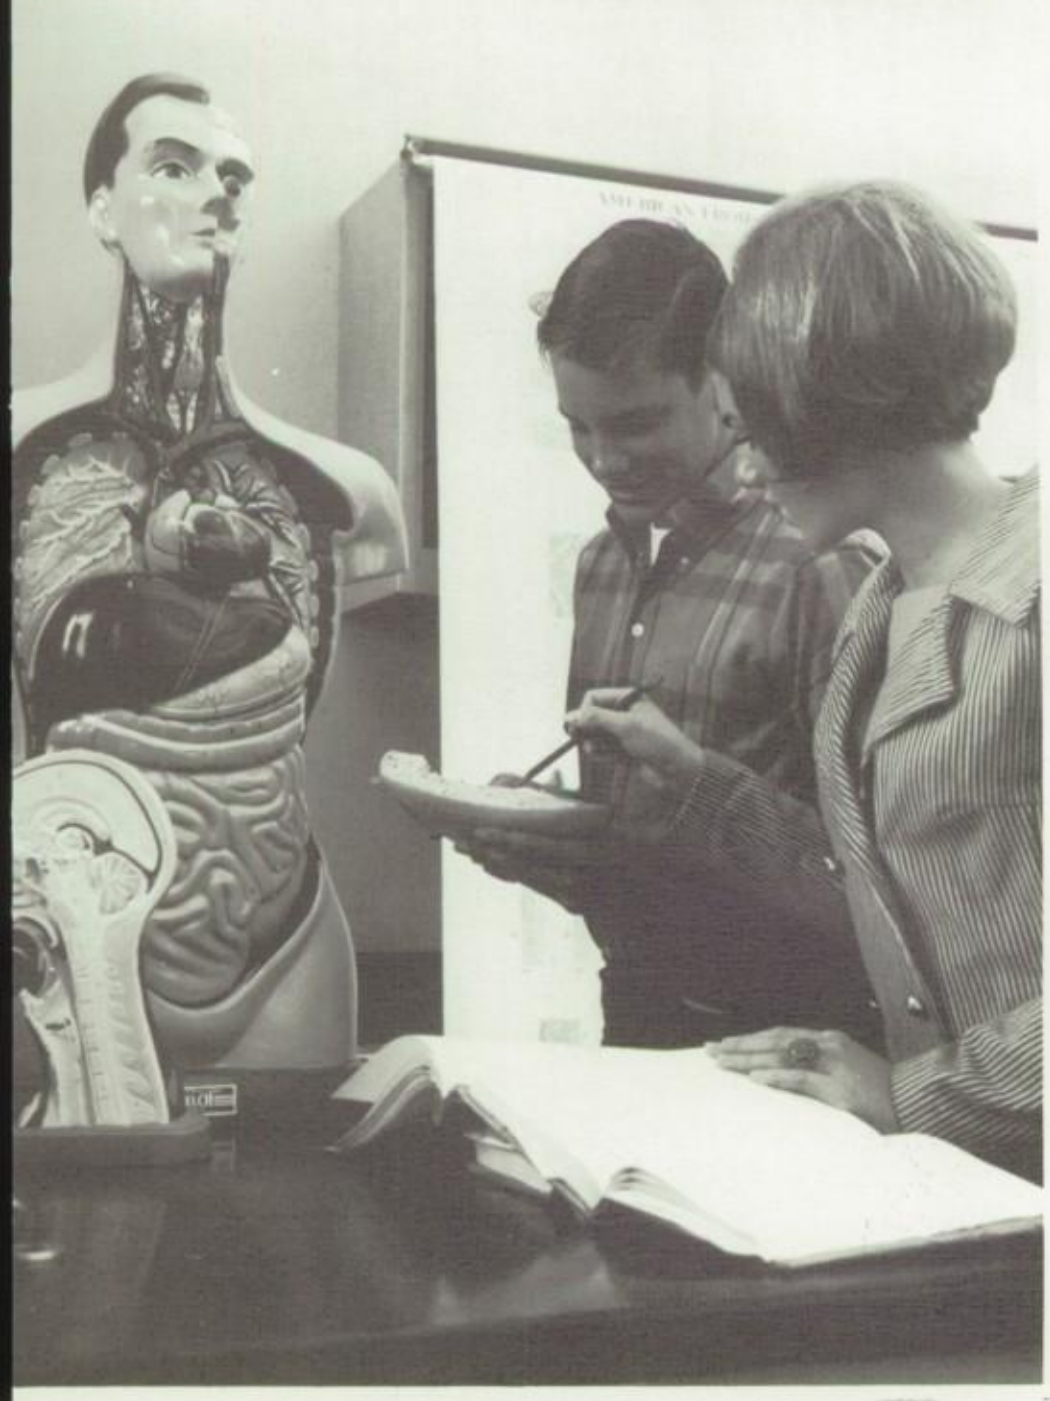
Health, Drivers Ed Combined

A semester health and drivers education class required for sophomores and freshmen was introduced into the RHHS curriculum this year. By taking drivers ed, a requirement for graduation, students were able to obtain their licenses before their eighteenth birthday.

Through the use of movies, testing equipment, and the current California Vehicle Code Book, the drivers education course taught driving safety, a knowledge of traffic laws, and the correct driving procedures.

Primarily a survey course, the health class introduced basic concepts to students. Discussing personal health more thoroughly than time permits in a biology course, the class covered such areas as growth and development, personal appearance and health problems. Alcohol, narcotics and communicable diseases were among topics disccussed.



INTERWORKINGS of the human body are studied by Bruce Douglas and Bonnie Dorsett as they examine the plastic human, "George," in their biology class.

New Approach Aids Students

The big change in the math department this year was the use of new approaches in teaching certain courses. Analytic geometry, for example, was taught by the vector viewpoint. According to department head Louise Smith, teaching by the vector method greatly simplifies math.

In discussing the mathematics program, Mrs. Smith said that math is based on "building blocks." One must master his previous math course before going on to another. If he does this, he will be able to handle the next course without difficulty.

Geometry was one of the subjects included in the new flexible schedule program. This enabled the 90 students involved to obtain deeper understanding of the subject.

One of the most intriguing ideas about mathematics is that it is manmade! An invention of man's mind is the common cliché, yet to what great heights man has gone with his invention. . . I like this story told by Dr. Howard Fehr. A group of 14-year olds were asked to name a relationship that had none of the properties of an equivalence relationship—i.e. symmetry, identity, and transitivity. A bright-eyed girl replied, "Love. Love doesn't have identity because there is a girl in this room who wouldn't have dressed the way she did today if she loved herself. Love doesn't have symmetry—I love a boy and he doesn't love me! Love isn't transitive. Father loves Mother, Mother loves her mother, but Father doesn't love Mother's mother."

Mathematics is more than just the manipulation of abstract symbols and the deriving of numerical answers to problems. It is the one true universal language of our world, used by all advanced civilizations. The progress of civilized man has been tied with an unbreakable knot to his advancing competence in mathematics. One need only look at our world today to see how true this is. There is not one discipline, from music to nuclear physics, from the social sciences to the business world, that does not use this unifying language. If man is to comprehend in some small way the world we live in, he must have some understanding of this language If he is to exert any influence upon the world, he must have more than just a nodding acquaintance with it.

Business Students Learn Office Skills

Learning how to feel at ease and be productive in an office situation was the primary objective of the business department. Students enrolled in these classes practiced office techniques and learned to use various office machines. Headed by Mrs. Leah Dukes, the department also offered students opportunities to apply their knowledge as student secretaries and office helpers at RHHS.

Two RHHS representatives at the Santa Monica Business Conference were Seniors Dick Wilson and Anita Manfredi. They were awarded second place in the Mr. and Miss Business Contest at the conference.

MRS. LEAH DUKES—B.A., California State College at Long Beach; Typing I; Office Practice; Business Law; Business Department Chairman.

Business education is a preparation for specific business positions, for promotion, for personal business competence, and for good citizenship. Business education is unique in that preparation for any one of these simultaneously prepares for the others. It is unique in that the student integrates and synthesizes the knowledge, attitudes and skills he has aquired in his study in all other subject areas.
—Mrs. Leah Dukes

SURROUNDED BY VARIOUS activities of a sewing room, Nadine Price completes an outfit from purple checked material for her advanced clothing project. Clothing courses stressed originality, color and sewing skills.

Students Get Fashion News

" . . .and with your new invisible zipper by Unique, you can give your clothes that tailored, professional look." Informative advertisements such as this were discussed in home economics classes. Students learned such varying subjects as the latest fashion trends, different periods of furniture, and how to make a "tender and flaky" pie crust. Mrs. Lorna Salisbury headed the department.

Supplementing the home decoration, foods and clothing courses was a new homemaking class. Taught by Mrs. Jean Etter, the class offered instruction on child development, family finances and nutrition. These courses contributed to the department's goal of producing a well-rounded woman who is able to handle problems of single and married life.

MRS. SONIA HILL—B.S., Texas Women's University; Beginning, Advanced Foods; Girls' Service Club.

MRS. LORNA SALISBURY—B.S., Utah State University; Beginning, Advanced Clothing; Home Economics Department Chairman; Hostess Club.

Technical Arts Prepare for Jobs

Originality was the keynote of the technical arts department, headed by Mr. James Van Waay. Fiberglass sabots emerged from the shops, as well as other items designed to acquaint students with industrial processes and basic manipulating skills.

Depending upon the quality of the various projects, the technical arts department could enter exhibits in the Great Western Exposition and the California State Industrial Arts Fair.

Guest speakers and new courses, such as industrial design, helped to prepare boys for advanced studies in technical fields.

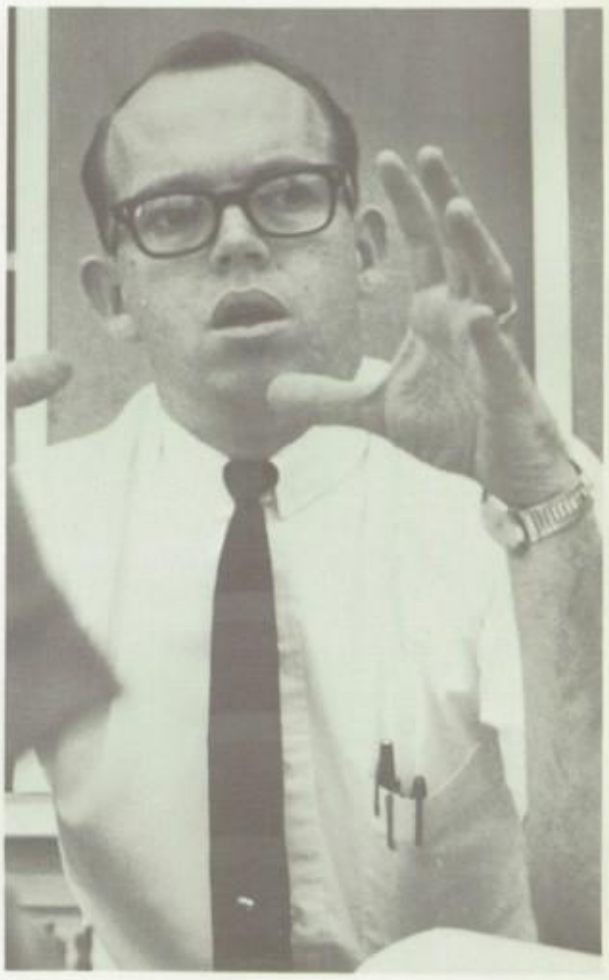
MR. JOHN BOOS — B.A., University of California at Santa Barbara; Mechanical Drawing; Engineering Drawing.



MR. JAMES VAN WAAY—B.A., San Diego State College; Technical Arts Department Chairman; Electricity; Electronics; Sound Crew.

MR. PHILLIP GRIFFITH - B.S., M.A., Northeast Missouri State Teachers College; Beginning, Intermediate, Advanced Metals; Beginning Electricity.

Many students can tell you the chemical make-up of water and the cycle through which it passes, but to most it remains a mystery
as to how to fix a leaky faucet.
Students need to take courses which will provide them with practical knowledge and appreciation for industry, not just ones which will enrich them academically.
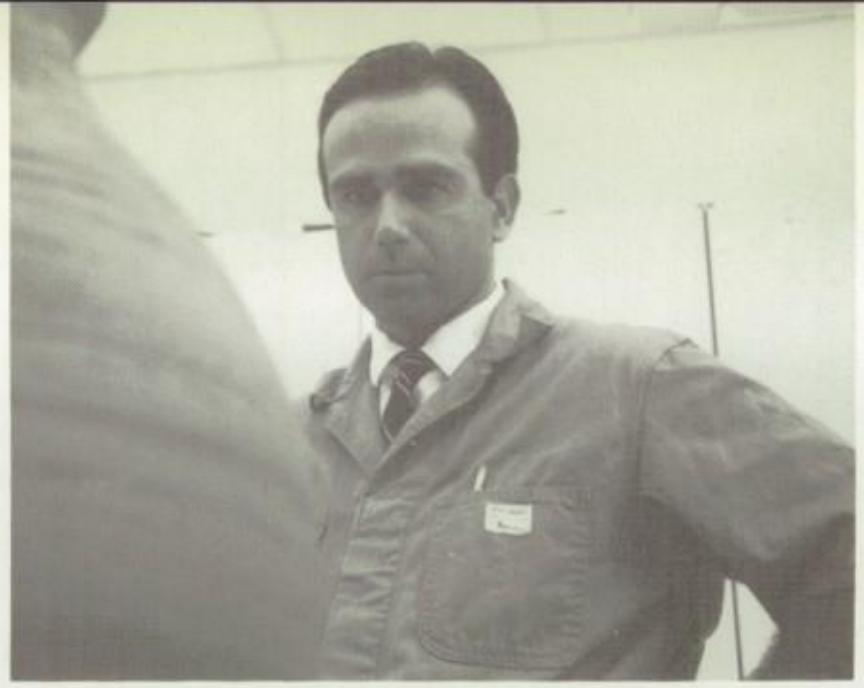
—Mr. James Van Waay



MR. DAN ALVICH—B.A., M.A., California State College at Long Beach; Ceramics I, II; Art Department Chairman; Art Club.

Art is misunderstood—it has little to do with pretty pictures with pretty frames and first prizes at juried shows. Art is a struggle—it is a second image of life that parallels real existence—a second world which the artist creates and lets the layman glimpse into. A person involved in Art should not have fame or fortune as a goal—what is of importance is that he is gifted in being able to have experiences that are unique—a moment of freedom in one's relationship to the fleeting quality which is life. Even if he fails he will have led a better life than most men will even know.
—Mr. Dan Alvich

New Art Offerings Cultivate Talent

Apparently pleased with her work, junior Leslie Smith forms lip of a vase she is throwing as a ceramics project. Art classes are designed to encourage self expression as well as to improve the students' basic artistic skills.

MRS. VALERIE DAVISSON—B.S., University of Oregon; Beginning, Intermediate Crafts; Beginning Design.

MR. STEVEN ARIAS—B.A., California State College at Long Beach; General Art; Crafts; Junior Class Sponsor.

Marking the success of four new courses was the discovery of unknown talent among RHHS art students. The classes presented varying concepts from a firm background of fundamentals in beginning art to advanced elements of design.

Pieces done by the students were displayed at several exhibits throughout the community, such as the one at Buffums' in Peninsula Center. Works were also compiled for the school's second annual art show and sale in the spring.

Various scholarships and prizes were awarded to outstanding students by several art associations, including the College of Design in Los Angeles and Community Arts Association.

MRS. CHIZUKO EVERTS - B.A., California State College at Long Beach; Drawing and Painting; Commercial Art.

MISS JEAN CAMPBELL—B.A., University of California at Santa Barbara; M.A., Stanford University; Boys' Glee Club; Beginning, Advanced Girls' Glee Clubs; Concert Choir; Music Appreciation.

Band, Singers Add Gay Note

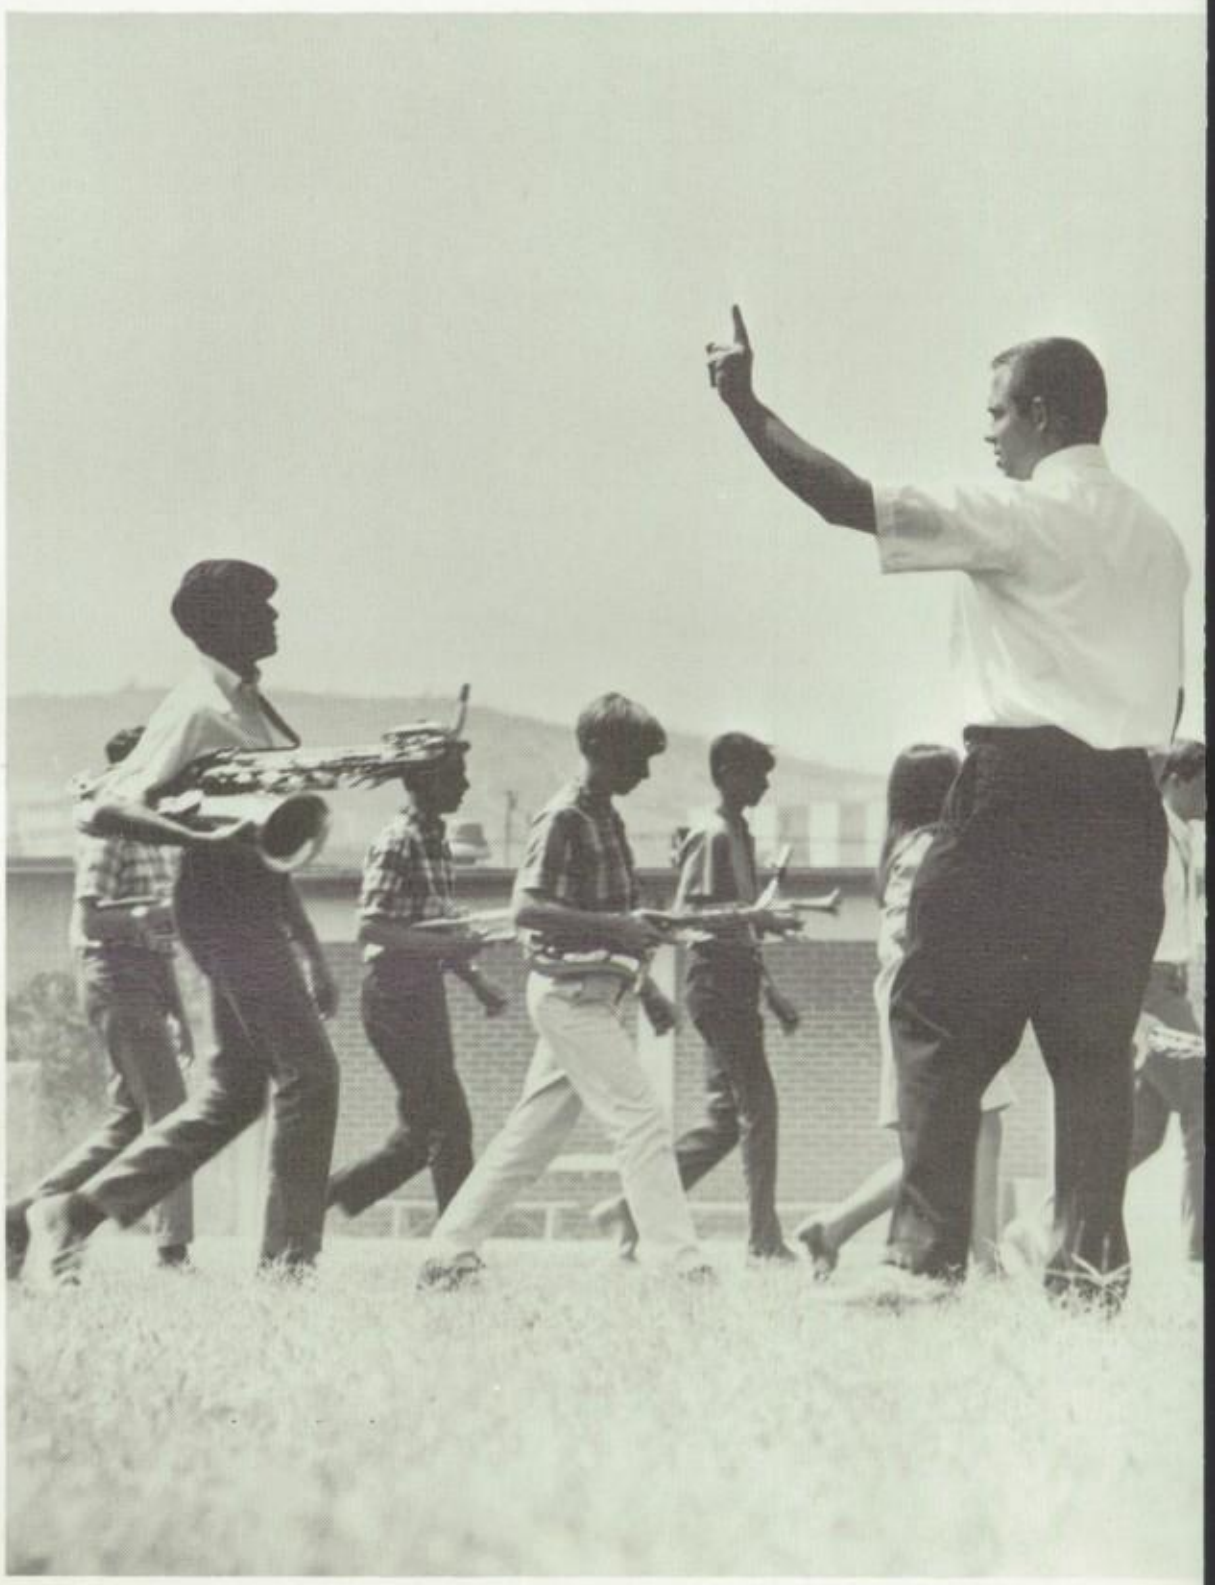
The sharp sound of a whistle blown four times in rapid succession and a brisk marching beat were familiar sounds during half time at all RHHS home football games. These sounds signaled the start of another performance of marching and music by the Titan Band, led by Mr. Dean Bowker.

Having four-year members for the first time, the band's performance ranged from Herb Alpert to such standbys as "Peter Gunn."

Mr. Bowker also directed the Chamber Singers, while Miss Jean Campbell led the Concert Choir. Other musical groups on campus were the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs, the Dance Band and the Honor Band.

RHHS students again participated in the state honor band, while senior Wayne Asbury attended an honor clinic at Idylwild. Conventional classroom courses were also offered in music theory, history and appreciation.

MR. DEAN BOWKER - B.A., M.M., Northwestern University; Band; Music Theory; Beginning Instruments; Chamber Singers; Orchestra; Music Department Chairman.



BAND DIRECTOR Dean Bowker leads full marching band in afternoon practice session. Marching rehearsals were common during football season as band sought to stay in top form.

P.E. Heightens Physical Skills

MR. DICK KELLER—B.A., Nebraska Wesleyan University; Boys' Physical Education; Athletic Director.

MRS. COZETTE WALKER—B.A., USC: Beginning, Advanced Dance; Choreodancers.

Wet-haired girls, exhausted athletes and harried students were familiar sights in front of the physical education locker rooms.

Intramural sports were added to the boys' P.E. department this year, enabling all boys to participate and compete in a chosen sport. Directed by department head Dick Keller, the regular classes concentrated on providing individual sports for the underclassmen and group activities for the upperclassmen.

New courses added to the girls' physical education gave freshmen individual help in grooming, while sophomores learned how to walk gracefully.

Coeducational classes for seniors highlighted the year, allowing the exchange of skills in sports. Also offered to seniors was a special class in first aid, taught by Mrs. Barbara Hardesty.

MR. WALTER BYNUM—B.S., M.Ed., Hardin-Simmons University; Boys' Physical Education; Varsity Basketball Coach; Assistant Track Coach.

MRS. BARBARA HARDESTY—B.S., Sam Houston State College; M.A., California State College at Long Beach; Girls' Physical Education; Girls' Physical Education Department Chairman; Girls' Swim Team.

It is true that one of our objectives is to improve the physical fitness of the individual, but we must realize that this objective in itself is rather shallow—we must have the foresight to see that we teach students for four years at the maximum, but they may well be influenced by our teaching for the rest of their lives. We must impress on them the importance of strength, flexibility and endurance, and we must familiarize them with individual and dual sports so that they can use this knowledge in the years ahead.
—Mr. Michael Gillespie

It has been great getting to know you in G.A.A. Next year you will have to be a full year with me. Have a good summer and be careful.
See you next fall.
Miss Wiringa

In physical education, we have a chance to teach the student to take success in good grace and bear defeat honorably, to value energetic action, fair play, courage, perseverance, individual effort and cooperation. With this type of training, high school youth can learn to take part in the adult game of life, with its many emergencies and endless anxieties.
—Miss Ruth Horne

Exercise Increases Strength, Stamina

THINGS ARE SELDOM what they seem, as Coach Bob Clark and his third period Boy's P.E. class demonstrate. Although it looks as though the boys are prison inmates, they are only practicing for a physical fitness test behind the fence surrounding the two campus swimming pools.

NO AMOUNT of laboratory equipment can substitute for a searching mind and its creative effort. Without an inquiring student, the best equipment and facilities are wasted.

MR. DEAN BOWKER conducts Titan band during last football rally of the year.

CEE FOOTBALL COACH Gary Kimbrell gives a last minute talk to members of the team during the Torrance game. The lecture paid off with a 21-0 victory.

BY THE END of the day, Leslie Stallwood has difficulty holding up her head. Reclining Roman-style, she manages to rest while studying.

JUNIOR KATHY O'DEA paints puce and chartreuse flowers on her papier mache whale. Art instructor Steven Arias discusses her color scheme.

MISS BARBARA FRANKS, Miss Emily Wierenga and Mrs. Cozette Walker prepare pancakes for famished early-risers. Students turned out in great numbers for a 6 a.m. dance and the pancake breakfast.

Class Continues Set Traditions, Creates Others

As the first class to complete four consecutive years at Rolling Hills High School, the class of '68 was able to watch and participate in the growth of the campus.

Distinguishing themselves academically, seniors Gloria Pinza, Brier Rentsch, Cathy Roberts and George Scharffenberger were rated winners in the National Council of Teachers of English contest. No other school in the nation has ever had four winners. Also, 14 Rolling Hills seniors qualified as semi-finalists in the National Merit Scholarship competition, an award given only to the upper 3% of all high school students.

Boosting the class treasury, seniors sponsored many fund raising projects, including game concessions and the Homecoming dance. Profits from these activities went towards the purchase of the senior gift and other expenditures, one of which was the gift of 21 trees to poverty stricken homes during the Christmas holidays.

Other senior activities for the year included a reception for senior parents, a senior breakfast, a tutorial program to aid seniors, a spring senior assembly, and school improvement projects. Also, seniors had the exclusive use of both the Amphitheater park and the convenient senior parking lot. In addition to these privileges was the dismissal of seniors five minutes before lunch.

Marking the end of the school year was graduation week. Among the graduation activities were Senior Ditch Day at the Newport Dunes, Baccalaureate at RHHS, and the Grad Night party at Disneyland.

Hugh Masekela Interprets Pulse Of New Africa

Explorations in originality were evident in junior class projects this year. Shindig was replaced by a jazz concert, bringing a new form of entertainment to RHHS. Starring Hugh Masekela, the concert featured African-style music with a jazz beat.

Presenting the Naval Air Training Command Choir, juniors sponsored this year's first all-school assembly. Under the leadership of president Scott Hutchison, the class gathered Christmas presents for orphans and donated money to the sophomore treasury to help compensate for the loss of the sophomore Homecoming mural. Winding up the year, juniors sponsored the off-campus prom at the Proud Bird, near the International Airport.

Among scholastic preparations were the PSAT exam, which showed students areas of study in which they excelled. A special college day in the fall gave juniors the opportunity to meet representatives from various vocational fields.

Ideas Ignite Spirit, Pride In Soph Class

Unique activities formulated by president Judy Thompson and a hard-working class cabinet characterized the profound spirit of the class of '70. A mistletoe sale followed the twice-built sophomore Homecoming mural, which defeated other competition in the mural contest to take first prize.

These unusual events generated schoolwide interest in the class and its activities. Class sponsors Liane Cummins, Tremaine Smith and William Hall gave extra time to promote class spirit and help overcome problems encountered by sophomores.

To highlight the year, sophomores sponsored the Soph Sweetheart Dance in the spring. The task of selecting the class sweetheart was left to the candidates hard campaigning as they solicited penny votes.

Frosh Provide Active Support For RHHS Events

Challenging the previous record of 650 students, the 760-member freshman class became the largest in RHHS history. President Jim Roberts and the class cabinet generated enthusiasm that helped freshmen develop a feeling of pride and a sense of belonging to the school.

The class of '71 contributed to student activities by managing concessions during several home football games and backing a pennant sale at basketball games. While taking part in Homecoming activities, frosh designed and constructed a mural depicting a Titan football player destroying the enemy's grave. The students also were responsible for maintaining RH on-the-Hill and for sponsoring the traditional candy sale on St. Valentine's Day.

Freshman joined upperclassmen in various campus organizations and participated in many extracurricular activities. With such efforts, the youngest class became firmly established in the RHHS student body.

"BUT MR. O'NEILL, I thought you said you couldn't divide oranges into apples. . . ." remarks Chris Beckett to Mr. William O'Neill during a typical Algebra 1 class. Teachers and upper classmen aided the freshmen in becoming rapidly acquainted with the many mysteries of high school.

"WHO'S YOUR FAVORITE?" inquires freshman Mike Witous as he and junior Jim Carlyle look over the Homecoming queen and her court. The girls were presented during the half time activities of that Friday's game. Homecoming proved to be a new and exciting experience for the class.

Council Promotes Massive Campaign For Clean Campus

Student Council was a vita, motivating force behind many school activities this year. The willing efforts of the members were responsible for the involvement of many students in school life.

One of the first accomplishments of Student Council was a successful Homecoming Week. Council served as a spearhead, uniting students and promoting participation.

Of growing concern throughout the year was the littering problem on campus. Council faced the problem by instigating a student enforcement committee and lunch litter court. Over 300 students signed up to help in the clean-up campaign.

Established tradition was broken when Council recommended altering the dress code for boys to include bermudas. The issue was passed by a vote of the student body. During a trial period, students proved that they were mature enough to accept this new privilege.

A permanent Student Council room was created this year by Council with funds that had been set aside from previous years. The room, furnished with conference tables and chairs, was also available for use by clubs and other organizations.

The office of ASB parliamentarian was established this year by Student Council. Appointed to the position by ASB President Gary Beeks, Richard Sax advised the president on all matters of parliamentary procedure and rules of order.

Camp Stimulates Student Leaders

A weekend trip to the mountains at Idyllwild was taken early in the year by many RHHS class, club and ASB officers. These students didn't go to ski, but to learn the responsibilities of their positions, discuss common goals, and to exchange ideas concerning leadership.

Upon reaching the USC Conference Center at Idyllwild, participants immediately became involved in an excellently planned program of group discussions and informal lectures. An executive committee, headed by Cathy Leahy and consisting of Lynn Bruinsma and Jim Woodburn, worked with the RHHS faculty in planning activities at the leadership camp.

The results of questionnaires filled out by the students who participated indicated that the camp successfully fulfilled its purposes and that it should be held again next year.

"AND WHAT am I bid for these three beauties?" asks the honorary auctioneer Bill Ryan, as his assistant Gene Thorne helps keep the betting straight. Nancy Gregory, Sue Wilson and Sharon Guy were only three of 25 girls who were selected for auction and then "sold" by Key Club.

Homecoming Emphasizes 'Involvement'

Established traditions, such as Crazy Hat Day, were thrown out as a new precedent was set this year for Homecoming. The key word was "Involvement"; throughout the week, a large percentage of students participated in a few carefully selected activities.

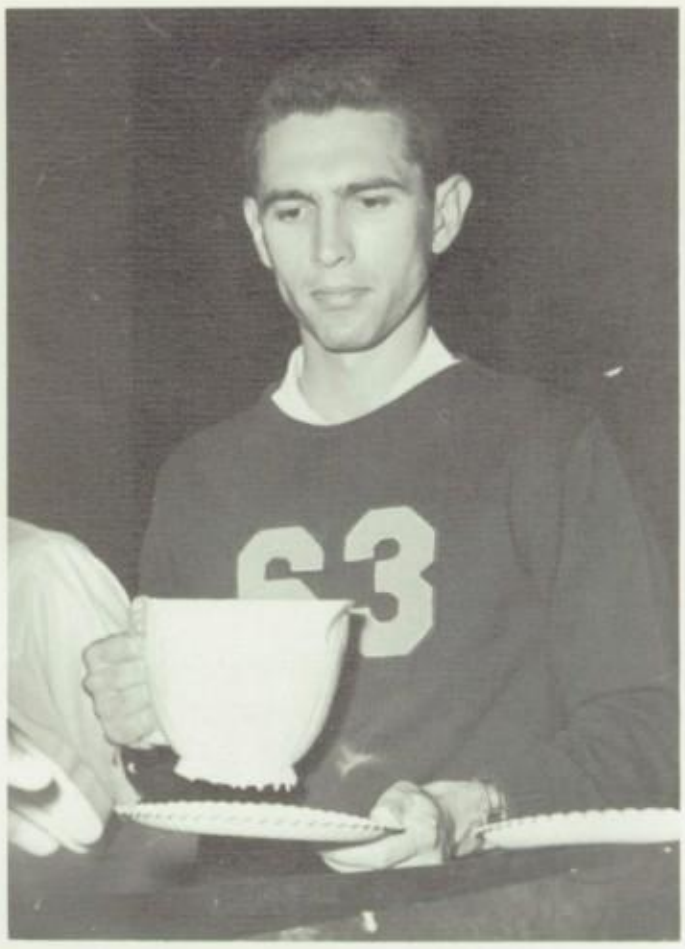
"It's in the Book" was the theme of the elaborate murals constructed by each of the four classes and by many of the clubs. Other activities were a morning dance, highlighted by a pancake breakfast, and a Key Club sponsored auction—of girls! In the third annual Powder Puff football game between junior and senior girls, the seniors completely demolished the junior squad, 21-0.

Climaxing the week's events, the varsity football team defeated Torrance in a game which was attended by many RHHS alumni. That night, the semi-formal Homecoming dance was staged, based on the theme "A-round the World in 80 Days." Reigning over the festivities were Homecoming Queen Frankie Ross and her court.

EXECUTING A FEW wild steps before school begins, Hal Handley, Conni Wright, Phil Curtiss and Sue Wilson enjoy the morning dance held one morning during Homecoming Week.

DANCING AT SIX in the morning is obviously a vital part of any young man's well-rounded education, according to Rick Keating.

"AND THIS is where I am after seven years of college?" thinks Mr. John Viculin at pancake breakfast.



"ON THE OTHER HAND, she's cute too," thinks Vincent Fritch as he surveys the four girls vying for honor of being Homecoming queen.

FIGHTING TO WIN, Sue Lordnich pulls senior opponent Janene Possell's flag during the third annual junior-senior Powder Puff classic. Even though juniors were able to foil the seniors' plans in this play, the upper classmen reigned victorious at the end of the last quarter.

Seniors Humiliate Helpless Juniors

Girls traded their feminine garb for football jerseys for the third annual Powder Puff football game, held during Homecoming Week. Junior girls, coached by Mr. Jim Whiting, could neither hold the senior offense nor penetrate the strong senior defenisive team. The seniors, with Messrs. Bill Ryan, Bill Thorn and Bobby McManus as coaches, rolled over the spirited juniors, scoring three touchdowns in two 15-minute halves for a final score of 21-0.

The two teams had been practicing for a week prior to the game, learning mechanics and plays. The final clash was witnessed by the entire student body, which was led in cheers by special male cheerleaders. The boys wore specially designed outfits, amusing the crowd.

SHOWING THEIR BLOCKING PROWESS, Lynn Bruinsma and Nancy Gregory stop Denise Dorr just short of first down in Powder Puff tilt.

SMILING HAPPILY after her coronation as 1967 Homecoming Queen, Frankie Ross is congratulated by ASB President Gary Beeks. The queen and her court of princesses were announced in an all-school rally.

FRANKIE ROSS was surprised and happy when Gary Beeks stood behind her indicating she was queen.

CHOSEN BY THEIR classmates as Homecoming princesses and introduced at a rally and game were junior Sharon Atkinson, freshman Dominique Fraser and sophomore Bettyann Rhoads.

Frankie Ross Reigns as Queen

SENIOR HOMECOMING Princesses Molly Coy, Sidneye Azar and Stephanie McBride were presented to the crowd at the Homecoming game; they were then driven around the track during half time. Seniors selected the senior court, from which was selected the Homecoming queen.

TRYING HER BEST to convince a skeptical audience, Madame Arcati (Lars Tegner) describes the art of the medium to Dr. Bradman (Bill Quinn), Mrs. Bradman (Gita Satyendra), the Condumines (Ann Colvin, Marty Klink).

Spirits Haunt Blithe Audience

Spirits from the dead, a flighty mediumandother ghostly and humorous effects delighted audiences of the drama department's production of "Blithe Spirit." The play, directed by Mr. Clifford Birrell, dealt with Charles Condumine's (Marty Klink) efforts to get rid of the ghost of his first wife Elvira (Tina Smith). Elvira was brought back from the dead through the mystifying techniques of Madame Arcati (Lars Tegner), a scatterbrained medium.

Other principals in the cast included Ann Colvin, Gail Dulgarian, Tom Ivons, Bill Quinn, Ronnie Richards, Gita Satyendra and Judy Thompson. Bob Berendt, Chris Canetti, Pete Hammond, Dean Hastings, Kneal Hollander, Jay Louvier, Mike Rushing and Aaron Terrill served as technical assistants for the production.

WHILE SCRATCHING his beard, Charles Condumine (Marty Klink) wonders how he will deal with his wife's ghost.

BRINGING TO LIFE the character of Elvira (Tina Smith), the "blithe spirit" is brought from the "other side" by a medium.

LARS TEGNER, who played Madame Arcati in the play "Blithe Spirit," captured the audience with her comical portrayal of the medium. The play was in December.

ANXIOUSLY AWAITING TO BE DISMISSED, the maid (Judy Thompson) serves Charles Condumine (Marty Klink) and his wife (Ann Colvin) their breakfast. "Blithe Spirit," a play by Noel Coward, was produced by the drama department, under direction of Mr. Clifford Birrell.

'Ugly' Bernie Wins Contest

Wild, gyrating dancers at the after-game stomp in January were interrupted to hear that Bernie Vlahakis won the "Mr. Ugly" contest. After a week of collecting penny votes from students, Bernie had more money than other contenders for the title.

Girls' Service Club nominated the original 15 semi-finalists, who were then narrowed down by an all-school vote. Other finalists included Richard Belcher, Harvey Daniels, John Papadakis, Barry Revell and Jody Rice.

Earlier in the year, a back-to-school stomp was sponsored by Lettermen's Club. Using the theme "Wet and Wild," lettermen encouraged students to bring their bathing suits and swim before or during the dance.

LISTENING TO THE SOUNDS of The Combinations, Randy Scott and Sharon Atkinson enjoy a dance at the "Mr. Ugly" stomp.

MODESTLY ACCEPTING his title as "Mr. Ugly," Bernie Vlahakis receives his crown and a bouquet of dead flowers. The ceremony took place at an after-game dance in January.

Formal Catches Yuletide Spirit

"'Twas the Night Before Christmas," was the old-fashioned theme for the Christmas formal dance. The event was sponsored by Girls' League on Saturday, December 2.

Transforming the gym into a cheery ballroom, the girls used a traditional red, green and white color scheme. The mood was carried out with the fabled boughs of holly and pine and sparkling gold and silver ornaments tied with red ribbons. A large Christmas tree, topped with popcorn strings and tinsel, added the final old-fashioned touch. Resting under the tree were presents brought by those attending the dance for Korean orphan Sang Kil.

The brightly bedecked couples danced to the music of the Bluenotes, a group frequently appearing on the peninsula. Reigning over the gala affair was Key Club Queen Lynn Bruinsma and her court, consisting of princesses Sally Butterbaugh, Nancy Gregory Ulrike Huebner and Sue Wilson. Making his yearly appearance was Santa Claus, who distributed candy canes to the couples.

LYNN BRUINSMA happily accepts her crown as Key Club queen from club president Jack Krug. Lynn was selected queen from a group of 14 candidates.

Students Entertain, Stimulate Thought

Many talented RHHS students participated in various dramatic and musical productions throughout the year. Presentations included "The Children's Story," "Girl Crazy" and the spring choral concert.

A controversial play, "The Children's Story," was the drama department's children's production this year. Originally scheduled for presentation at intermediate schools, the play was cancelled because it was not considered suitable for the average intermediate school student.

"Girl Crazy" was produced as the PTA Summer Show at Palos Verdes High School. Auditions were open to students from both RHHS and PVHS, and junior Alan Ankerstar was cast as the male lead.

In March, the annual spring choral concert was presented. Featured groups included the Concert Choir, Madrigals, Girls' Glee Club and several new singing groups.

BAFFLED DURING a frenzied moment from "The Children's Story" are Steve Day and Corey Hayden, who portrayed elementary school boys.

Masekela Performs in Concert

A ROUSING OVATION is given Hugh Masekela and his combo by an appreciative audience

"The first taste of ingenuity this year," remarked Junior Class President Scott Hutchison about the first annual RHHS Jazz Concert, held on January 28. Starring Hugh Masekela and the Owen Trio, the concert replaced Shindig.

The concert was aimed at involving the high school and the community in a cultural activity. Unfortunately, there was a relatively small audience at the concert causing the junior class to suffer a financial deficit.

Despite poor attendance, the audience's enthusiasm was tremendous. Masekela, accompanied by a four-man combo, played his own versions of "Up, Up, and Away," "Along Comes Mary," and other popular tunes.

MISS ORIGINALITY, Sandi Daley, demonstrates how her skirt zipped off, transforming her school dress into a minidress.

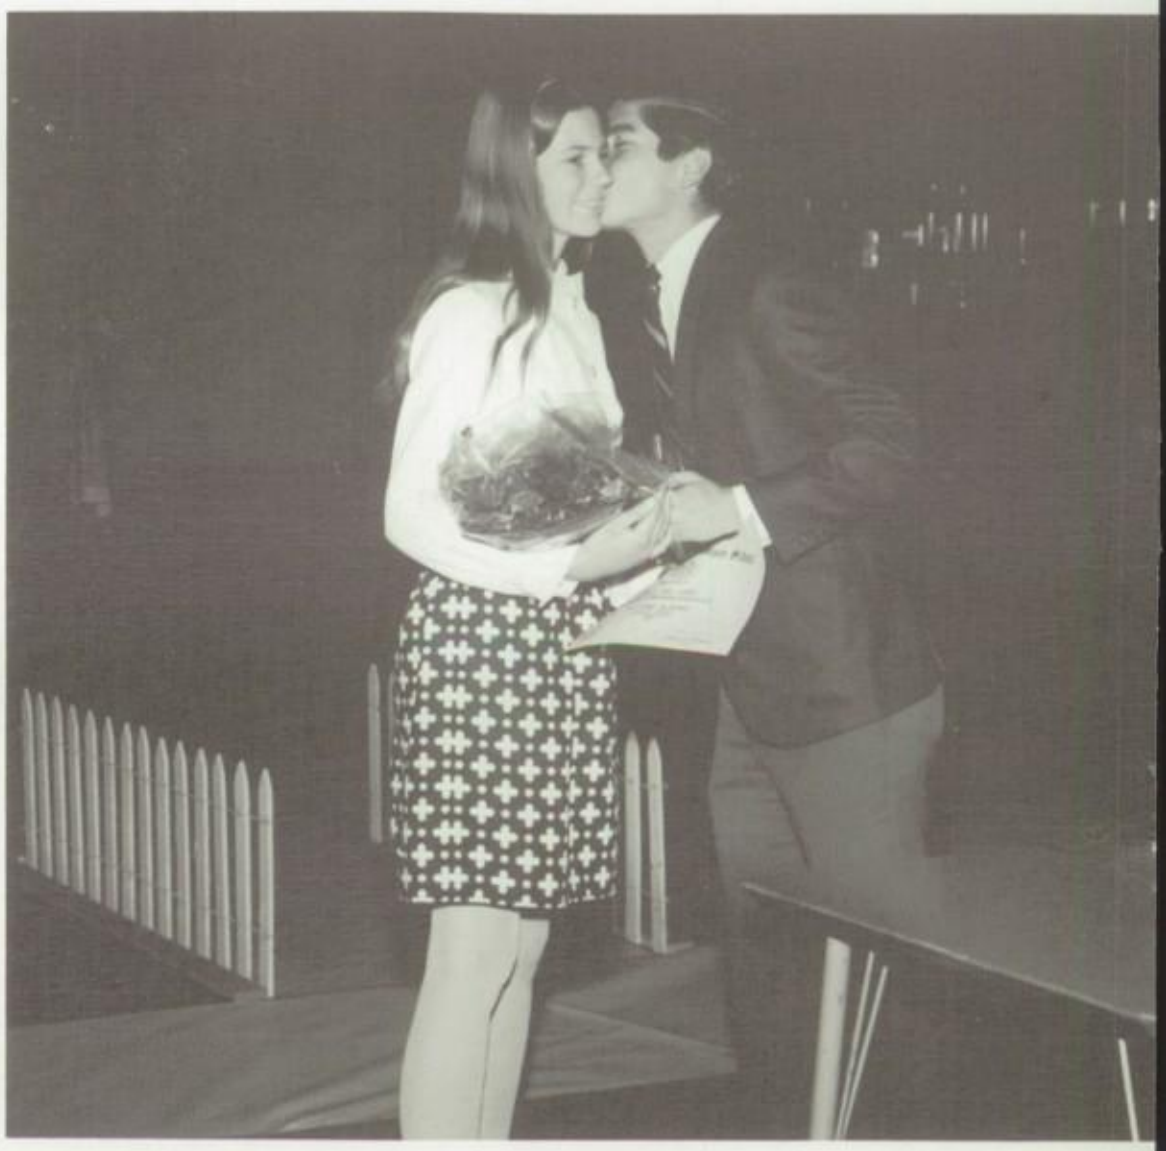
SEMI-FINALISTS in Buttons 'n Bows wait by the gym before entering to model their outfits in the Girls' League assembly. The girls were chosen earlier in the week.

ONE OF THE COMMENTATORS, Joanne Gaynor, describes a fashion ensemble at Girls' League Buttons 'n Bows assembly. Auditions were held for commentator positions.

With the mod theme of "A Fashion Boutique," new flair and excitement were added to the fourth annual Buttons 'n Bows fashion show. The popular event, sponsored by the Girls' League Board, inspired 80 girls to enter creations they made themselves.

The seamstresses entered one of six categories, including At-Home Wear, Datewear, Ensembles, Frosh-Soph Schoolwear, Junior-Senior Schoolwear and Formals. There was a special award for the girl with the most original dress designed by herself or created from two or more patterns. Winner Sandi Daley modeled her school dress, which became a miniskirt as she unzipped the bottom panel.

Selecting the winners were Mrs. Pat Rice and Mrs. Mary Pittman, home economics teachers, and Mrs. Joanne Starck, owner of a yardage store. In evaluating the garments, judges placed the most emphasis on over-all workmanship. Grading factors also included suitability of fabric to the pattern design, the effect of the garment on the girl, the accessories for the garment, and poise.



A CONGRATULATORY KISS is given to Buttons 'n Bows winner Janet Williams by ASB Vice-president Robin Silver. Prominent RHHS boys served as escorts at the affair.

FIERCELY TUGGING at his stubborn donkey's halter, Mr. Gene Thorne strains to get control of the basketball. Held in May, the amusing game between seniors and faculty was sponsored by Lettermen's Club and Quill and Scroll.

Unusual Sporting Events Initiated

SMASHING THE BALL in a fast game of handball, sophomore Don Palazzo participates in the newly established RHHS intramural sports program.

Unique RHHS sporting events offered the opportunity for students and their parents to participate in or watch athletic contests. Several campus organizations staged activities designed to involve more people in school events.

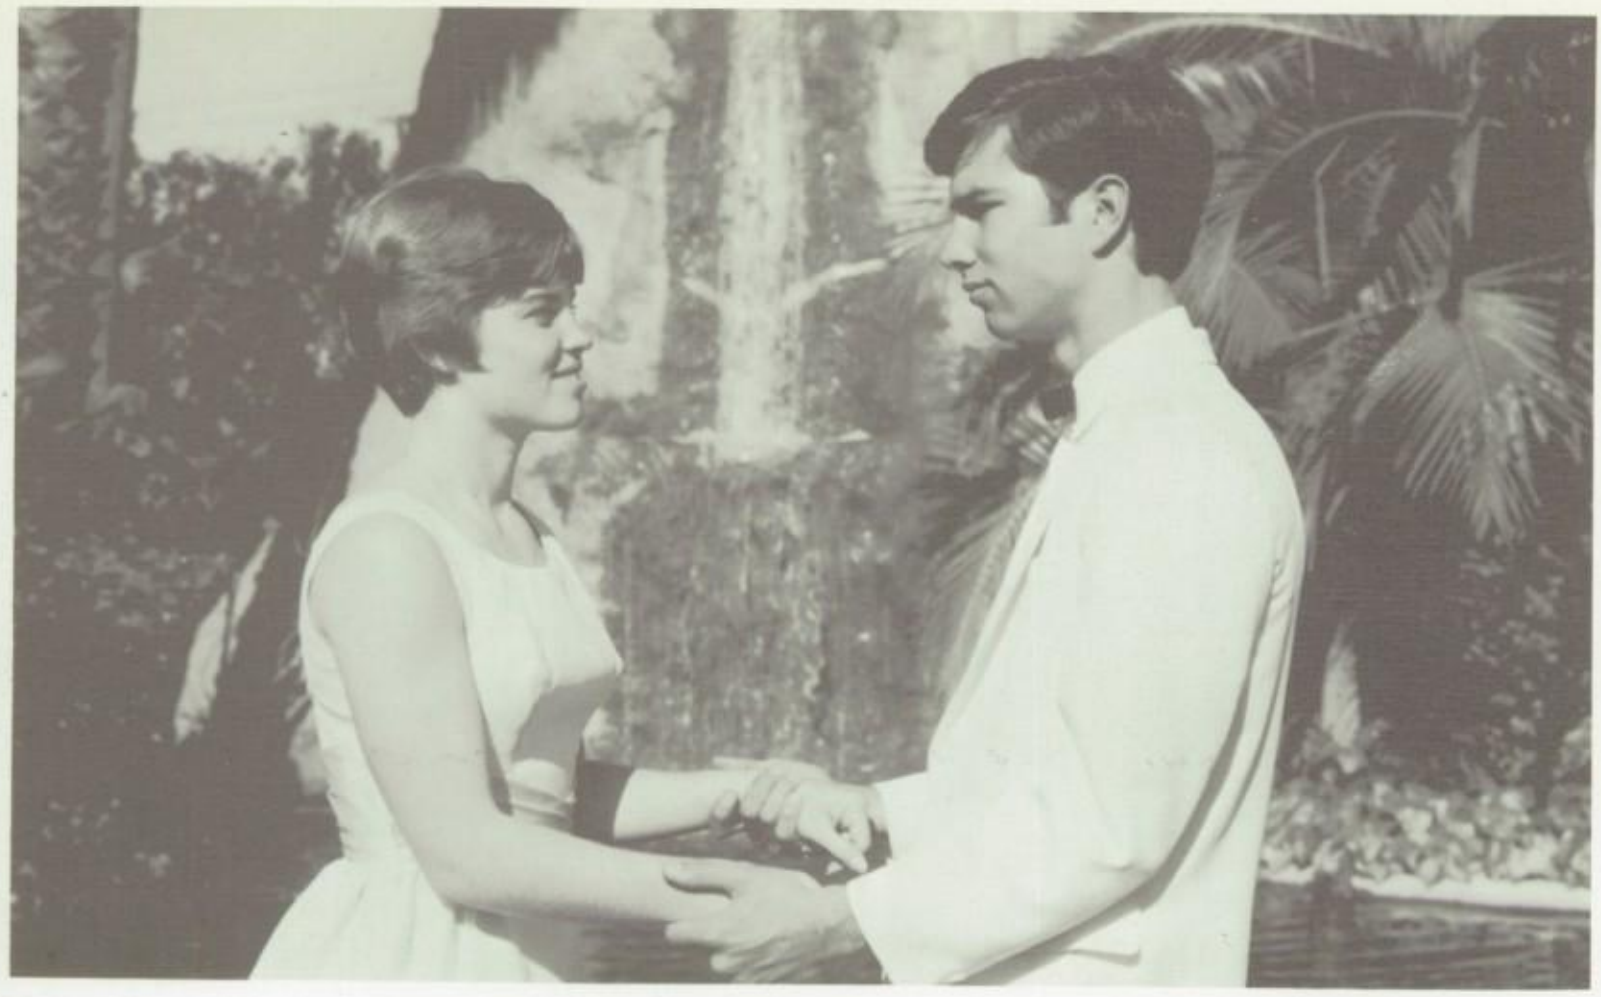
Promoting a better father and son relationship was the goal of the Dads' Club. A boxing tournament in November, featuring professional heavyweight boxers Joey Orbillo and Al Carter, was one activity sponsored by the group.

Students who lacked either the time or proficiency to participate in athletics found intramural sports compatible to their needs. Directed by Mr. Jerry Gaines and sponsored by Boys' League, the fall sports included basketball, handball and football.

Cheering crowds watched the faculty and student teams clash at the fourth annual Donkey Basketball game in May. Sponsored by Lettermen's Club and Quill and Scroll, the game drew a capacity crowd to view the evening's hilarity.

"101 POUNDS OF FUN, that's my little honeybun!" sings Nellie (Joy Pinkerton) to Billis (Bob Berendt) in a rowdy scene from the spring musical "South Pacific." The Rogers and Hammerstein musical, which was a smash hit on Broadway, was presented to sell-out audiences.

ESCAPING FROM the other guests at a formal dinner party, Nellie (Joy Pinkerton) and Emile (John Romero) pause by a romantic waterfall. Scene took place in the spring production of "South Pacific."



Musical an Enchanted Evening

CABLE (Craig Cahow) confesses his love for Liat (Sharon Atkinson) with the tacit approval of Bloody Mary (Ronnie Richards).

"South Pacific," the long-running Broadway play by Richard Rogers and Oscar Hammerstein made famous by Mary Martin and Ezio Pinza, was the all-school spring musical this year. The production played to full houses, May 16, 17 and 18.

With a cast chosen during a series of auditions, director Clifford Birrell tapped the talents of RHHS dramatists and musicians. Starring in the production were Joy Pinkerton as Nellie and John Romero as Emile. Ronnie Richards as Bloody Mary, Craig Cahow as Cable, Sharon Atkinson as Liat and Bob Berendt as Billis turned in polished performances.

Chosen because of its large number of speaking and chorus parts, the musical is the story of an American nurse and a French planter who meet and fall in love against the background of World War II.

Besides attending sporting events, the squad traveled to cheerleading-songleading camp in Squaw Valley and to various competitions.

The songleaders were invited to compete in the state finals in San Francisco. Performing at Kezar Stadium during half time of the Ram-49er game, the RHHS songleaders placed in the top 12 out of 100 schools participating. At the Squaw Valley camp, they won ribbons each day, including a first place in daily competition and an overall third place.

The cheerleaders also won daily ribbons at Squaw Valley. In final competition, they received second place and the spirit award. The addition of two boy yell leaders to the squad increased the number of cheerleaders from six to eight.

Titanettes Add Spirit

Performing intricate precision routines on the Titan field, the RHHS Drill Team supported the school's teams in a variety of ways, including attending all games. With the help of advisor Judy Foster and Captain Linda Hand, the Titanettes created new routines which were performed during half time activities at all home football games.

New blue and white uniforms, featuring drill team necklaces and small blue and white pom-poms, were introduced in September. The group sponsored a candy sale to finance the new outfits.

Participating in competition at La Puente, the Titanettes were awarded sixth place out of 30 entries. They also took part in state competition in the spring.

WITH OTHER drill team members, Karen Alexander cheers the football team from the stands. The drill team was important in increasing school spirit by attending all games.

Musicians Stir Student Spirit

Featured at many school events, the Titan Band performed at rallies, athletic and other events, for which it subdivided into several smaller performing units.

The Symphonic Band staged spring and Christmas concerts and participated in the all-school musical, "South Pacific." The Dance Band performed at formal affairs for various organizations, while the Honor Band, consisting of the finest musicians in the Symphonic Band, played at home basketball games. All instrumental groups were conducted by Mr. Dean Bowker.

Members of the band who made California All-State Honor Band were Wayne Asbury, Robbie Buell, Larry Buell and John Tortarolo. The selection of four band members ranks the Titan Band as one of the finest in the state.

Performing in the spring and Christmas musicals, RHHS vocal organizations gave many students the opportunity to participate in musical programs. While the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs handled songs of a more popular nature, the Concert Choir and Chamber Singers, formerly A Cappella and Madrigals, concentrated on classical music. The latter two groups were open only to students able to pass certain vocal tests.

Mr. Dean Bowker directed the Chamber Singers, while Miss Jean Campbell directed the Concert Choir. The groups appeared off campus at Century City Music Festival, as well as singing for several community organizations. The glee clubs were led by Miss Jean Campbell.

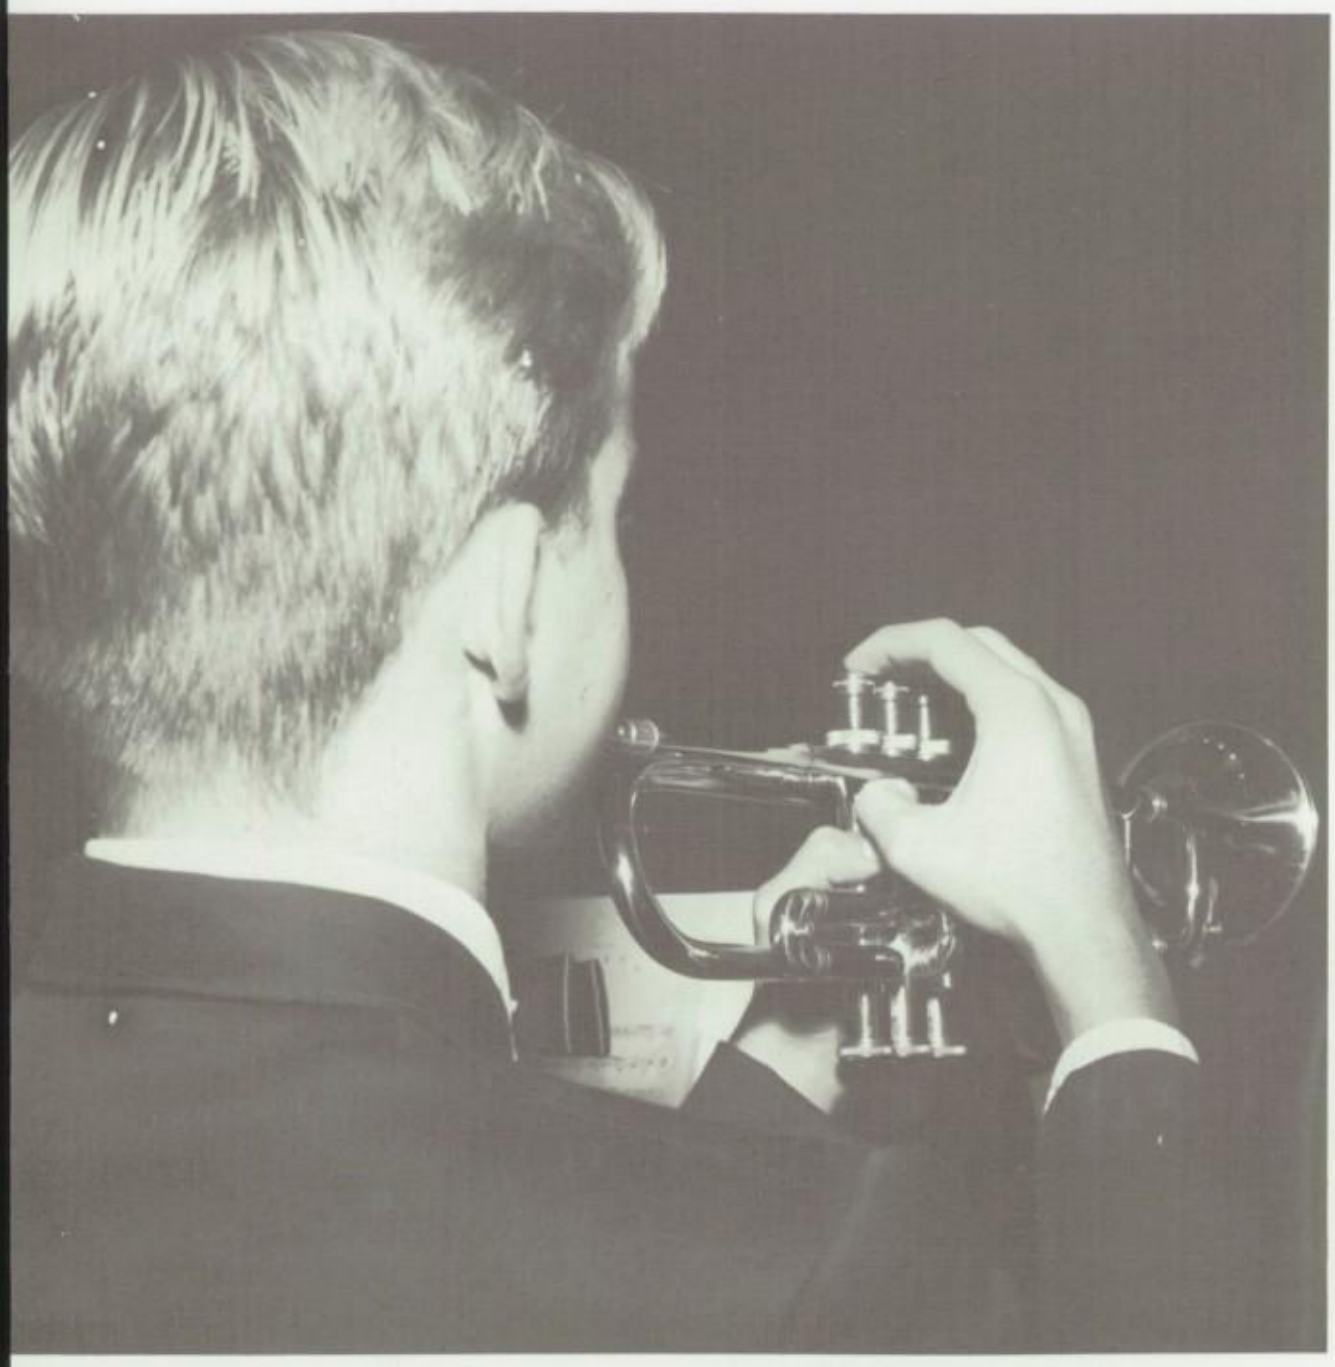
Choruses Present Christmas Show



THE SOUND of Mark Perbix's trumpet merges with other instruments at the Christmas musical show. Featuring RHHS singing and instrumental groups, the program stressed unusual music.

BARITONE MICHAEL GELMAN solos during the Boys' Glee Club Christmas music presentation.

CHRISTY McCAMPBELL is presented with a dozen roses by Robert Agualto following her performance in Folksingers' November Hootenanny. Another informal Hootenanny, to which all students were invited, was planned for the beach in the spring.

CALLING UPON her unlimited talent, Christy McCampbell sings at a Girls' League assembly. Folksingers often participated in such events.

SENIOR BILL BALDWIN sings a traditional ballad during the Folksingers' fall Hootenanny. By performing publicly, members increased their skill.

JOAN BEATTY gives her interpretation of an American folk song at a hootenanny sponsored by Folksingers Club. Many students attended the event, finding it both educational and fun.

Folksingers Explore Music

From jugband music to traditional ballads, Folksingers explored all the varieties of folk music. Creating an interest in different types of folk music, members learned new songs and perfected their singing style.

Sponsored by Mr. Charles Feeney, Folksingers staged a hootenanny in November. In the spring, the club held an open, informal hootenanny on the beach, to which all interested students were invited. Plans for next year include the establishment of a scholarship fund for musically talented students.

ROW 3: Bob Sheridan, John Donhoff, Ken Bower, Eric Ratner, Barry Seidler, Allan Cantor, Campbell Killefer, Bill Dawson.

DEBATE COACH and speech instructor James Barlow is amused as forensics students, on their way to a debate tournament, run madly to his car. The team's enthusiasm partially contributed to the group's success in all speech endeavors.

"UNTIL THE PEOPLE of this country realize the immensity of the problem of crime, the situation cannot be relieved," states Campbell Killefer, a top RHHS debator.

Speakers Gain Many Rewards

Two and four-man debate, humorous interpretation, dramatic interpretation, oratorical analysis and impromptu speaking were among the categories in which Rolling Hills debators competed against other schools.

Winning a series of debates, second year varsity debators Ken Bower and Barry Seidler went to the State Tournament. The teams of Campbell Killefer and Richard Sax, and Kathy Young and John Donhoff progressed to the quarter finals. Donhoff and Miss Young won other tournaments, among them the first place consolation at the Ramona Debate Tournament. Participating in individual events were Alan Breakstone, Betty Smith, Maia Krache and Karen Wilkins.

Individuals achieving distinction during the year included Karen Wilkins in extemporaneous speech. After winning first place in the South Bay-West Los Angeles National Forensics League Qualifications in April, Miss Wilkins qualified to advance to the NFL Nationals in Minneapolis during June.

FORENSICS SPONSOR James Barlow helps Jacqui MacCrossen compose her notes for a dramatic interpretative speech.

Clubs Offer Opportunity for Expression

Exploring new means of self-expression, students participated in the Thespian, Cinema and Literary Clubs. Quill and Scroll and the Political Opinion Survey Club also offered students a means for the expression of ideas.

The Cinema Club was a new addition to RHHS this year. Sponsor Jerry Hill and club members analyzed several creative art films. The club goal was the production of an original film.

How many RHHS students use drugs? This and other questions were explored by the Political Opinion Survey Club. The organization distributed questionnaires during the year, asking students' opinions of current issues. Sponsored by Mr. Leland Wooton, the group also discussed these subjects in seminars.

By working at least one year on the TITAN or DELPHIAN, students earned a chance to become Quill and Scroll members. Staff members in the top third of their class, with the recommendation of their advisor, were eligible for membership in the honorary journalism organization.

Assembling a literary magazine was the goal of the Literary Club. Creative writing, art work and poems of RHHS students were combined by club members in the school's first such publication. Helping with school plays was the main activity of the Thespian Club. At the end of the school year, members voted for best actor and actress from the seniors.

LITERARY MAGAZINE co-editors Bill Baldwin, Holly Smith and Chris Louizeaux read manuscripts which may be published. The magazine featured works by RHHS students.

DURING A LATE afternoon session, DELPHIAN Editor Dan Dixon and assistant editor Joanne Jabuka check pictures. Staff members spent endless hours working on the annual.

Changes Made in Delphian

What part do emotions play in the lives of RHHS students? With this idea as its theme, the '68 DELPHIAN captured expressions and moods by featuring close-up photography and emphasizing the individual in copy and layouts.

Length and basic format resembled the three previous books, but several important innovations gave the annual a new look. The traditional color opening section gave way to browntone pictures and the virtual deletion of copy. The use of mosaic layouts created an unlimited amount of new and unusual layout designs. Complete revamping of the faculty section resulted in the use of personal philosophies of selected teachers.

Operating for the first time as separate classes, the production crew designed page layouts, organized photographs and handled finances, while the copy staff wrote all body copy, captions and headlines. Each copy staff member worked in conjunction with a production section editor. Editor-in-chief Dan Dixon and advisor Adrienne Phillips coordinated activities of the two staffs.

SENIOR SECTION EDITORS Merelie Murrell and Sherry Andresen match pictures to layouts.

Paper Presses for Improvements

Maintaining its ranking as one of the country's most outstanding high school newspapers, the TITAN continued its creative contribution to RHHS. Keeping its eight-page format, the paper was produced biweekly.

Editor-in-Chief Bob Wold and assistant editor Cathy Roberts, the only staff members who have served for four years, aided advisor Bill Thorn in forming an effective staff.

One innovation in this year's TITAN was the addition of the Feature Magazine, a four-page supplement to the regular TITAN. Debuting in January, the magazine provided extra feature stories covering the school and community. Also included was an entertainment page and a literary section.

The TITAN was awarded the National Scholastic Press Association's top rating, All American, and walked off with four special awards for over-all coverage, editorial page photography and page make-up at the annual UCLA Press Day in November.

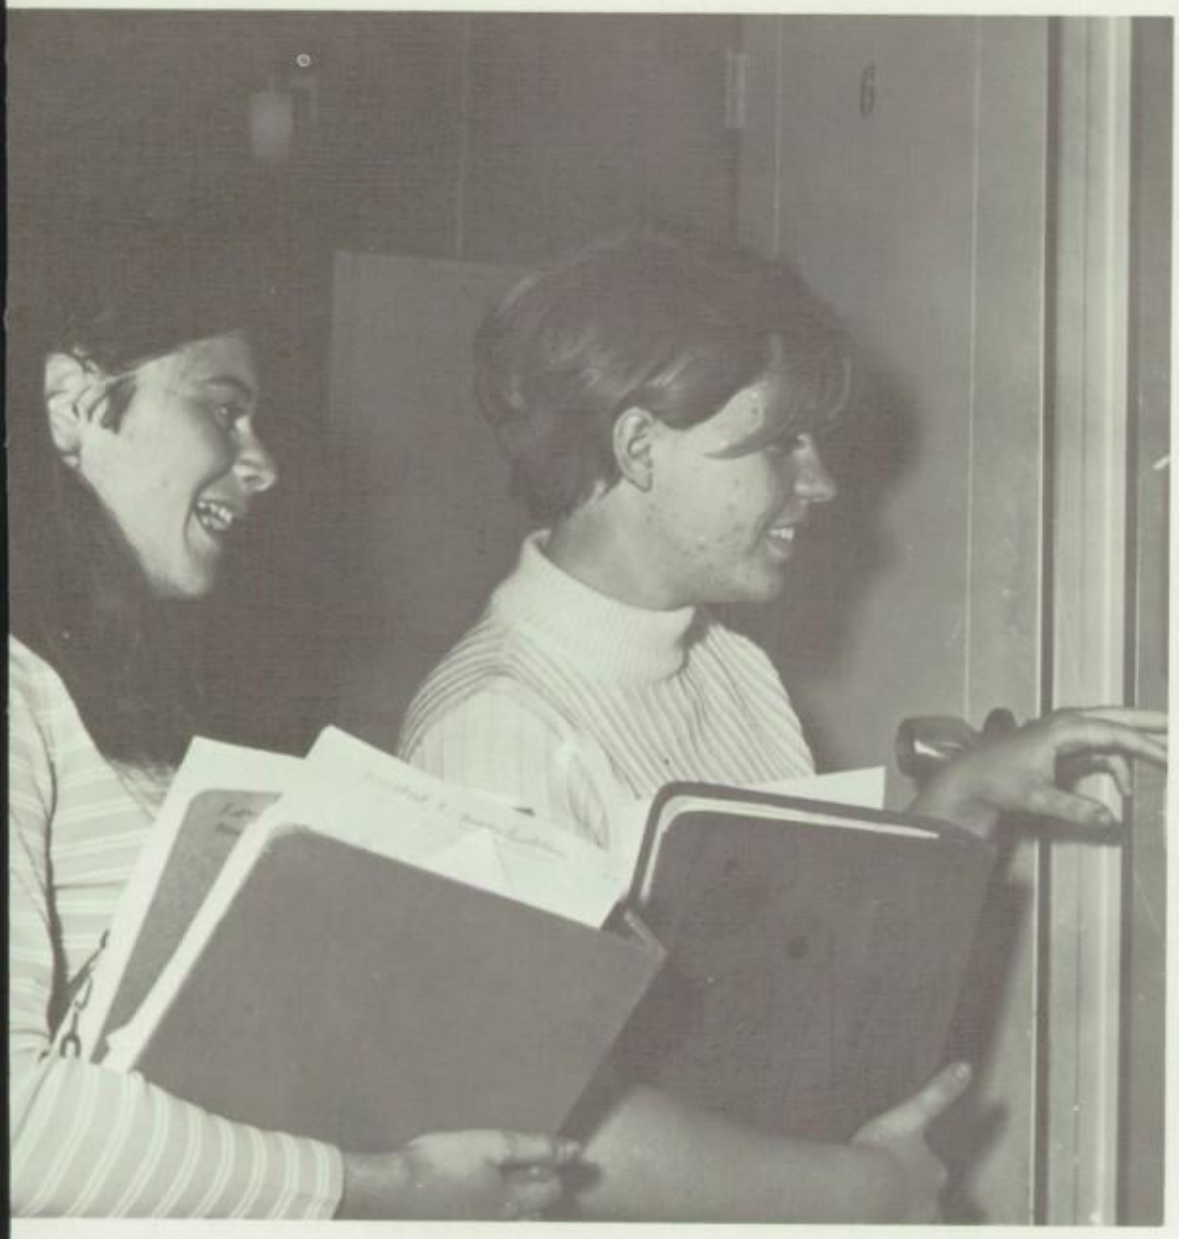
MEG EPSTEIN and Brier Rentsch look for their names on the newly posted CSF membership list. Membership criteria were raised to comply with UC requirements.



Honor Societies Raise Standards

California Scholarship Federation and National Honor Society were two organizations on campus which stressed student achievement in academic fields.

Inducting 55 new members from the upper 10% of the senior class, NHS became one of the larger organizations on campus. Candidates were selected on the basis of leadership, scholarship, service and character.

Boasting over 100 members, CSF was one of the largest organizations on campus. Activities included a fall car wash, which was staged to finance a scholarship for one outstanding senior member.

Membership requirements for CSF were altered this year to comply with the requirements of the University of California. Elective courses requiring no home preparation were no longer counted towards the ten point total needed to join.

Campus Clubs Serve School

Sponsoring a variety of campus events, Girls' Service Club and Key Club served the school. Girls'Service Club ushered at many school functions, including Back-to-School night, graduation and the Buttons 'n Bows fashion show.

Members urged students to bring wrapped presents with them to the Christmas formal. These gifts were sent to the Korean orphan adopted by the school last year. The club also revived the "Mr. Ugly" contest by nominating 15 semi-finalists.

Joining with Lettermen's Club and Student Council, Key Club initiated a campus clean-up campaign. In March, the club sponsored a pancake breakfast and later in the year used the money earned as a $300 scholarship for a deserving RHHS student. Lynn Bruinsma was crowned 1967 Key Club Queen at the Christmas dance.

The titillating lunch-time auction of campus beauties proved a popular Key Club event. Boys ate lunch with the girls for which they bargained and bought. Another activity was a car-smashing session during January final exams. Students took out end-of-the-term frustrations by smashing an old car supplied by the club.

GITA SATYENDRA sells her fragrant wares to Gail Griffith and John Waller. Students were able to purchase fresh daisies during the Girls' Service Club sale.

Leagues Sponsor Popular Events

JUNIOR STEVE RATNER smashes a serve to his opponent. As part of the Boys' League intramural program, handball gave more students a chance to take part in sports.

Girls' and Boys' Leagues sparked student interest in their activities this year. Girls' League sponsored such events as the annual yuletide formal dance, entitled "'Twas the Night Before Christmas" and the Buttons 'n Bows fashion show in March. The girls also sold blue, gold and white balloons at the Homecoming game and staged an all-girl assembly in September.

Representing the other half of the RHHS student body, Boys' League backed an assembly in the fall to introduce sports offered by the school and the new intramural competition program. During Homecoming Week, Boys' League sponsored the second annual 6 a.m. dance.

Ulrike, Ahmed Enjoy RHHS

Adding an interesting dimension to campus life this year, the American Field Service sponsored three exchange students. Ulrike Huebner, from Kiel, Germany, spent the first semester at RHHS and then moved to Texas with her American sister, Ann Howe. Ahmed Slimi, from Morocco, came to RHHS half way through the first semester and resided with Jim Cornyn and his family. Kirsten Ording, from Denmark, came to RHHS during the second semester to live with the Stoskopf family.

To acquaint AFS members with the exchange students, a summer party was given. Guests included club members and foreign students from Palos Verdes, Narbonne, San Pedro and Chadwick high schools, as well as from RHHS. When school began, juniors held a class assembly to acquaint juniors with Ulrike and the AFS program.

AFS was also responsible for sending senior Mike Stoskopf to Denmark for the 1967-68 school year. This year's finalists, juniors Sharon Atkinson and Debbie Knable, will be eligible to go abroad in the summer and winter of 1968-69.

Under the guidance of Miss Mary Pinoniemi, AFS visited Disneyland, sponsored both a Christmas party and a school dance, and took part in the PTA carnival and the Homecoming mural contest. The departing foreign students were honored in April at the annual International Dinner.

RH'S AMBASSADOR ABROAD, Mike Stoskopf, serenades a Danish friend at his "second home" in Sjaeland, Denmark, where he spent the year as an AFS exchange student.

"FAR AWAY PLACES with strange sounding names" are discussed by Sharon Atkinson and Debbie Knable. The girls were chosen as finalists for AFS exchange students.

TO REMEMBER his year at Rolling Hills, exchange student Ahmed Slimi photographs Ulrike Huebner as they wear costumes from their homelands.

Talent Revealed, Creativity Soars

Developing individual talent was the goal of the Art Club, Karate Club and Choreodancers. Each club broadened its members' particular interests.

The Karate Club gave its members the opportunity for participation in and better understanding of the sport. Under the direction of Mr. Bob Barrow, who holds a fourth degree belt, members practiced techniques and exercises during meetings.

Serving the school, the Art Club made posters to advertise school events. Visits to professional artists' studios, galleries and art exhibits completed the year's activities. Also, student art work was displayed and sold at the March Art Festival.

Learning new and more advanced dance techniques, Choreodancers performed in assemblies, the school musical in May, and the annual modern dance show in April. Chosen during auditions in October, members participated in a master dance lesson and attended a dance concert at UCLA. The group also completed filming a movie of modern dance fundamentals.

Language, Sports Activities Contrast

An honorary group of RHHS athletes, the Lettermen's Club directed most of its efforts toward increasing spirit on campus. Sponsored by Mr. Garry Poe, the club presented the Athlete-of-the-Month award to outstanding members.

The club-sponsored dance was held in April, when Sue Wilson was crowned Lettermen's Club Queen. The dance culminated activities of Letterman's Club Day, which featured events sponsored by the group.

Managers Club handled athletic equipment, as well as verifying that first aid was available at all games. Advised by Mr. Wilbur Lucas, the club also sponsored several concessions during the year.

DEMONSTRATING the "proper" method of eating escargot, French teacher Patricia Maier increases her students' appreciation of fine foreign cuisine.

The French and German Clubs sponsored parties and other activities to introduce students to the social customs of Germany and France.

"Les cercles de français," the French Club, held a beach party in October to honor new members and sponsor Marjorie Akin. A "petite soirée," or small party, which featured French foods, was held in March. Students were permitted to speak only French during the dinner.

The German Club, sponsored by Mr. Larry Bauer, gave a Christmas party and held a banquet in a German restaurant. Activities also featured a talk by foreign exchange student Ulrike Huebner and the showing of a feature-length German film.

Groups Look Toward Futures

Preparing for their futures, students gained experience and practical knowledge in certain fields. Through their activities, clubs prepared members for possible occupations.

Medics Club activities included a field trip to South Bay Hospital, participation in the Bloodmobile Drive, and a Harbor General Hospital Christmas project. To raise money, members sold popcorn after school.

Students considering a career in teaching were able to observe instructors at various grade levels through the Future Teachers Club. The group also attended the USC Future Teachers of America Conference and the California Teacher Federation Conference.

The Business Club prepared its members for careers in management and business by visiting business offices and schools. Promoting interest in foods, the Hostess Club prepared and served many types of meals throughout the year.

Aiding students by assisting in the library outside of class time, the Library Council participated in the library's daily operation. Student librarians learned methods of charging and shelving books and running the business machines.

Clubs Heighten Skill, Interest

Stimulating competition and discussion highlighted activities of four RHHS clubs. Participating in a math meet against 16 high schools of the South Bay Mathematics League, the RHHS math club placed first. Striving for a deeper understanding of math, the club explored a different field of math at each weekly meeting. A discussion and demonstration of probability highlighted the seminars.

The outer limits of space and the universe were the main topics discussed by the Astronomy Club. Members studied space travel, our galaxy and the entire universe. They also began building a telescope.

Studying the history, variations and strategies of chess, members of the Chess Club perfected their playing skills. RHHS's group also took part in South Bay Chess League competition.

Construction of a complex machine to accelerate electrons occupied the time of students in the Physics Club, a science study group. The project, for which a linear accelerator had to be constructed, required most of the year to complete.

Campus Groups Enjoy Hobbies

Four campus clubs promoted participation in special hobbies. Students were able to share their common interests by joining the Amateur Radio, Sailing, Sound Crew or Modeling Clubs.

Amateur Radio Club members became familiar with radio theory and transmission. By learning International Morse Code, they were able to apply for their ham licenses. Licensed students kept up regular communication with other operators throughout the western United States.

Including both novices and experienced seamen as members, the Sailing Club completed its first year as an RHHS organization. Students sailed in privately owned boats to increase their skill. Also gaining valuable experience, the Sound Crew handled sound equipment for all school functions and productions.

Members of the Modeling Club shared their knowledge of the modeling and historical aspects of aircraft, ships, railroads and armored vehicles. The group also displayed its models at meetings and held flying meets.

ATHLETICS

DESPITE COMBINED BLOCKING of Chris Canetti (74) and Dennis Smith (88), quarterback Paul Fieri (14) is brought down by a West Torrance tackler on a running play. West was victorious, 20-12, in the only Titan loss of the season. The Titan offense was contained by West line.

Ties Frustrate Varsity CIF Hopes

Sometimes victorious, seldom defeated, and often tied, the offensively balanced and defensively impenetrable Titan varsity football team showed inconsistency, yet was a much improved team. Led by head coach Dwaine Lyon, the team's league record was three wins, no losses, and two ties, both of which occurred in key games against Morningside and Leuzinger.

Thanks to the overpowering RH defense, traditional rival Palos Verdes suffered a sound 25-0 beating, giving up 12 points on interceptions alone. The win marked the second consecutive Titan victory over Palos Verdes.

Several Titans made the all-Sky league team this year. They were Brian Butler, defensive end; Paul Fieri, defensive halfback; Dan McNeer, offensive center; Dale Paige, defensive tackle; and John Papadakis, offensive fullback and defensive linebacker. Papadakis was also voted Sky League co-player of the year, along with Everett Marshall from Morningside.

DESPITE TITAN blocking efforts, fullback John Papadakis (80) is tackled by a Torrance player on an end run. Titans came out on top, 20-6.

One Loss Mars Flawless JV Record

TITAN QUARTERBACK, Greg Halvorsen (18), gets good blocking and starts upfield pursued by Torrance tacklers during the 20-6 Tartar rout by the RH Varsity.

Though by no means unsuccessful, the Titan JV football team was not quite as effective as in previous undefeated years. The first loss in the history of Titan JV football, a 43-6 trouncing by West Torrance, was the only loss of the year.

Coached by Mr. Mike Gillespie and Mr. Bob Clarke, the JV's showed a powerful offense from their opening victory over Aviation, and the subsequent 35-20 defeat of Palos Verdes. Following this single interruption in its string of victories, the team once again resumed its winning streak.

Standouts for the JV's included Bud Riegle, John Berry and Tom Glanville, each of whom made major contributions to the team. Plagued by poor offense during mid-season, the team managed to get back on its feet in the scoring department by the end of the year.

Despite a slow start in pre-season contests, the Bee football team developed sufficient power to win its last three starts by wide margins and finish in second place for the second year in a row. Led by Mr. Garry Poe and Mr. Bob Pier, the team distinguished itself by finishing the season with a 3-2 league record.

After losing six games in a row, the Bees saved the season by defeating Morningside, 27-13. Another highlight was the 45-0 upset of favored Leuzinger, which knocked the Lancers out of contention for the league title. Injured varsity lineman Chris McGinn served as an assistant coach of the team.

After a shaky start, the RH Cee football team came back to finish league play with a respectable 2 win, 1 loss, and 1 tie record. Coached by Mr. Gary Kimbrell and Mr. Robert Barrow, the team finished second and missed a first place berth only after a loss on the final day of the season.

Prior to their final defeat, the Cees had downed Torrance 21-0, after which they handed Morningside a 19-12 defeat. Going into the final contest, the Titans were favored to win; but Leuzinger crushed RH hopes and won the league title.

FIGHTING OFF TACKLERS, Bee quarterback Jim Conti strains to get a few extra yards during the Culver City game. Led by Conti, the Titans managed to hand the Centaurs a 32-0 trouncing.

League Title Evades Titan Runners

Finishing the season in better shape than ever before, the Titan Varsity cross country team came in second in Sky League competition. Coached by Mr. Jacque Osborne, the team jumped up three places from last year. Top runners were Dave Finley and Jon Wannlund, both juniors.

On the JV level, the Titans had a banner year. Sporting a five win, no loss record in Sky League contests, they left the rest of the league in the shambles of a three-way second place tie.

The Titan Frosh-Soph harriers dropped from last year's first place finish to second place in the '67-'68 season. Edging the Titans out in their only league defeat, the Morningside team was the year's only detracting factor.

RHHS Water Polo Last, Not Least

The first year of water polo was one of tremendous effort, great spirit, but very few victories. Led by Mr. Frank Akins and Mr. Bernie Ramming, the Titan's showing was nonetheless remarkable since all but one of the players had never played water polo before. High scorers and all-league players were Steve Kemp and Doug Cheshire, with 15 goals each.

One exciting moment of the season came when the Titans faced Palos Verdes in a rematch. The game went into overtime when, at the final gun, the two teams were deadlocked, 14-14. In the overtime period, however, Palos Verdes greater experience and endurance proved too much for the Titans, with Palos Verdes winning, 20-14.

Although by no means overpowering in its performance, the Bee water polo team enjoyed what must be termed a mild success. Coming out of the season with a record of 2 wins and 8 losses, the team managed to finish fifth in the Sky League.

For the Cee water polo team, the first year of play was a pleasant surprise. Led by high scorer Dave Kintas, the Cees fought to a fourth place finish in the Sky League. The Cees highlighted their season with a 10-2 pounding of Leuzinger in their first encounter and a 9-4 repeat performance at their second meeting.

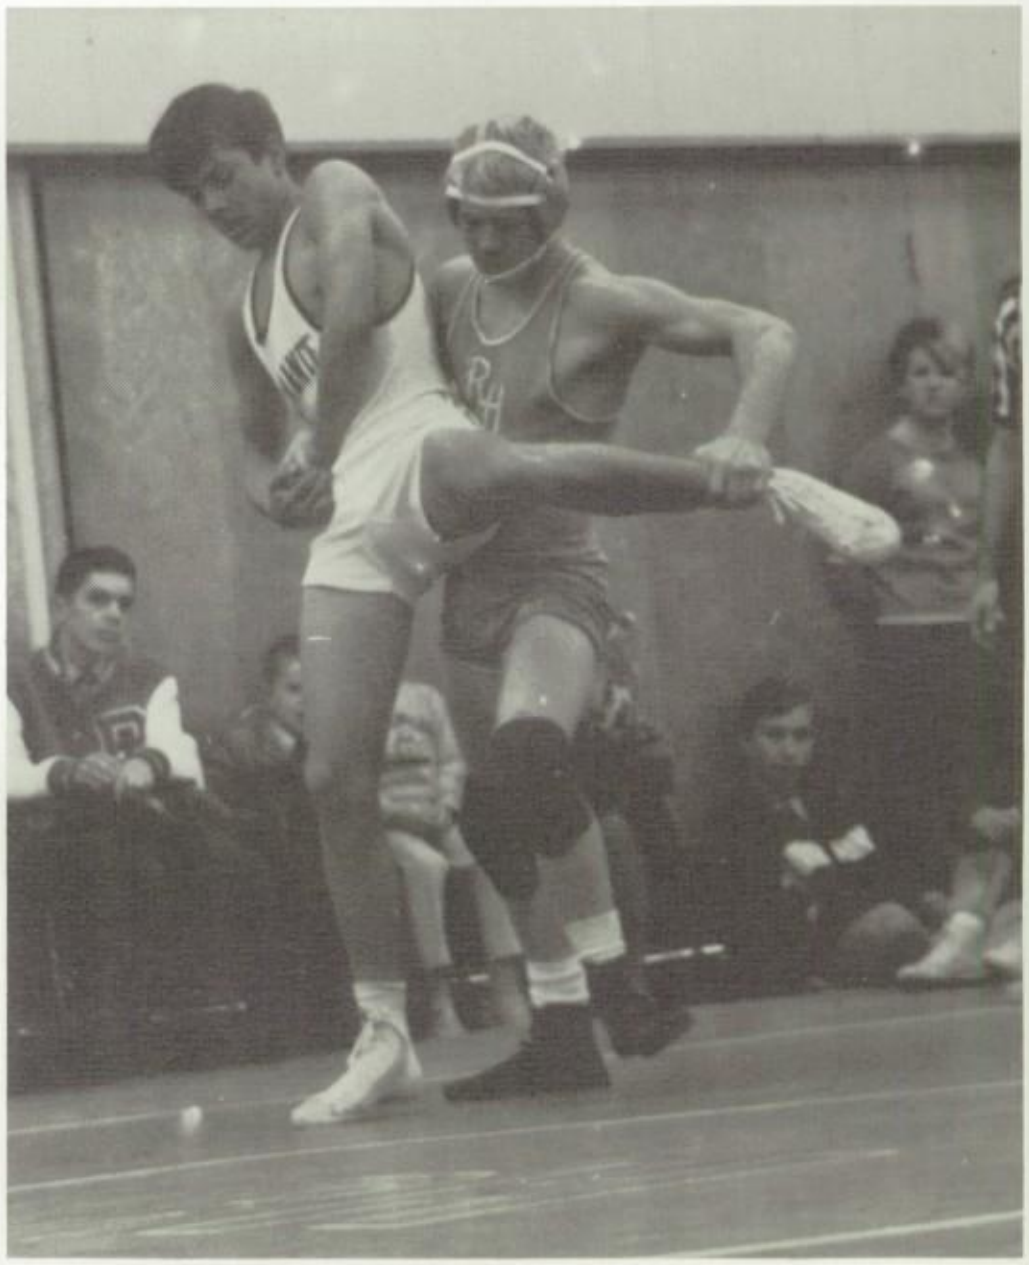
Injury-Plagued Wrestlers Vie for Crown

The Titan wrestling team developed well as a unit this year with its record showing more success and consistency than ever before. According to Coach Bob Clarke, the team was the best group of wrestlers Rolling Hills has had. Some of the standouts were newcomers, such as Mike and Larry Sander, while veteran wrestlers such as Scott Day and Dale Paige continued to provide outstanding performances.

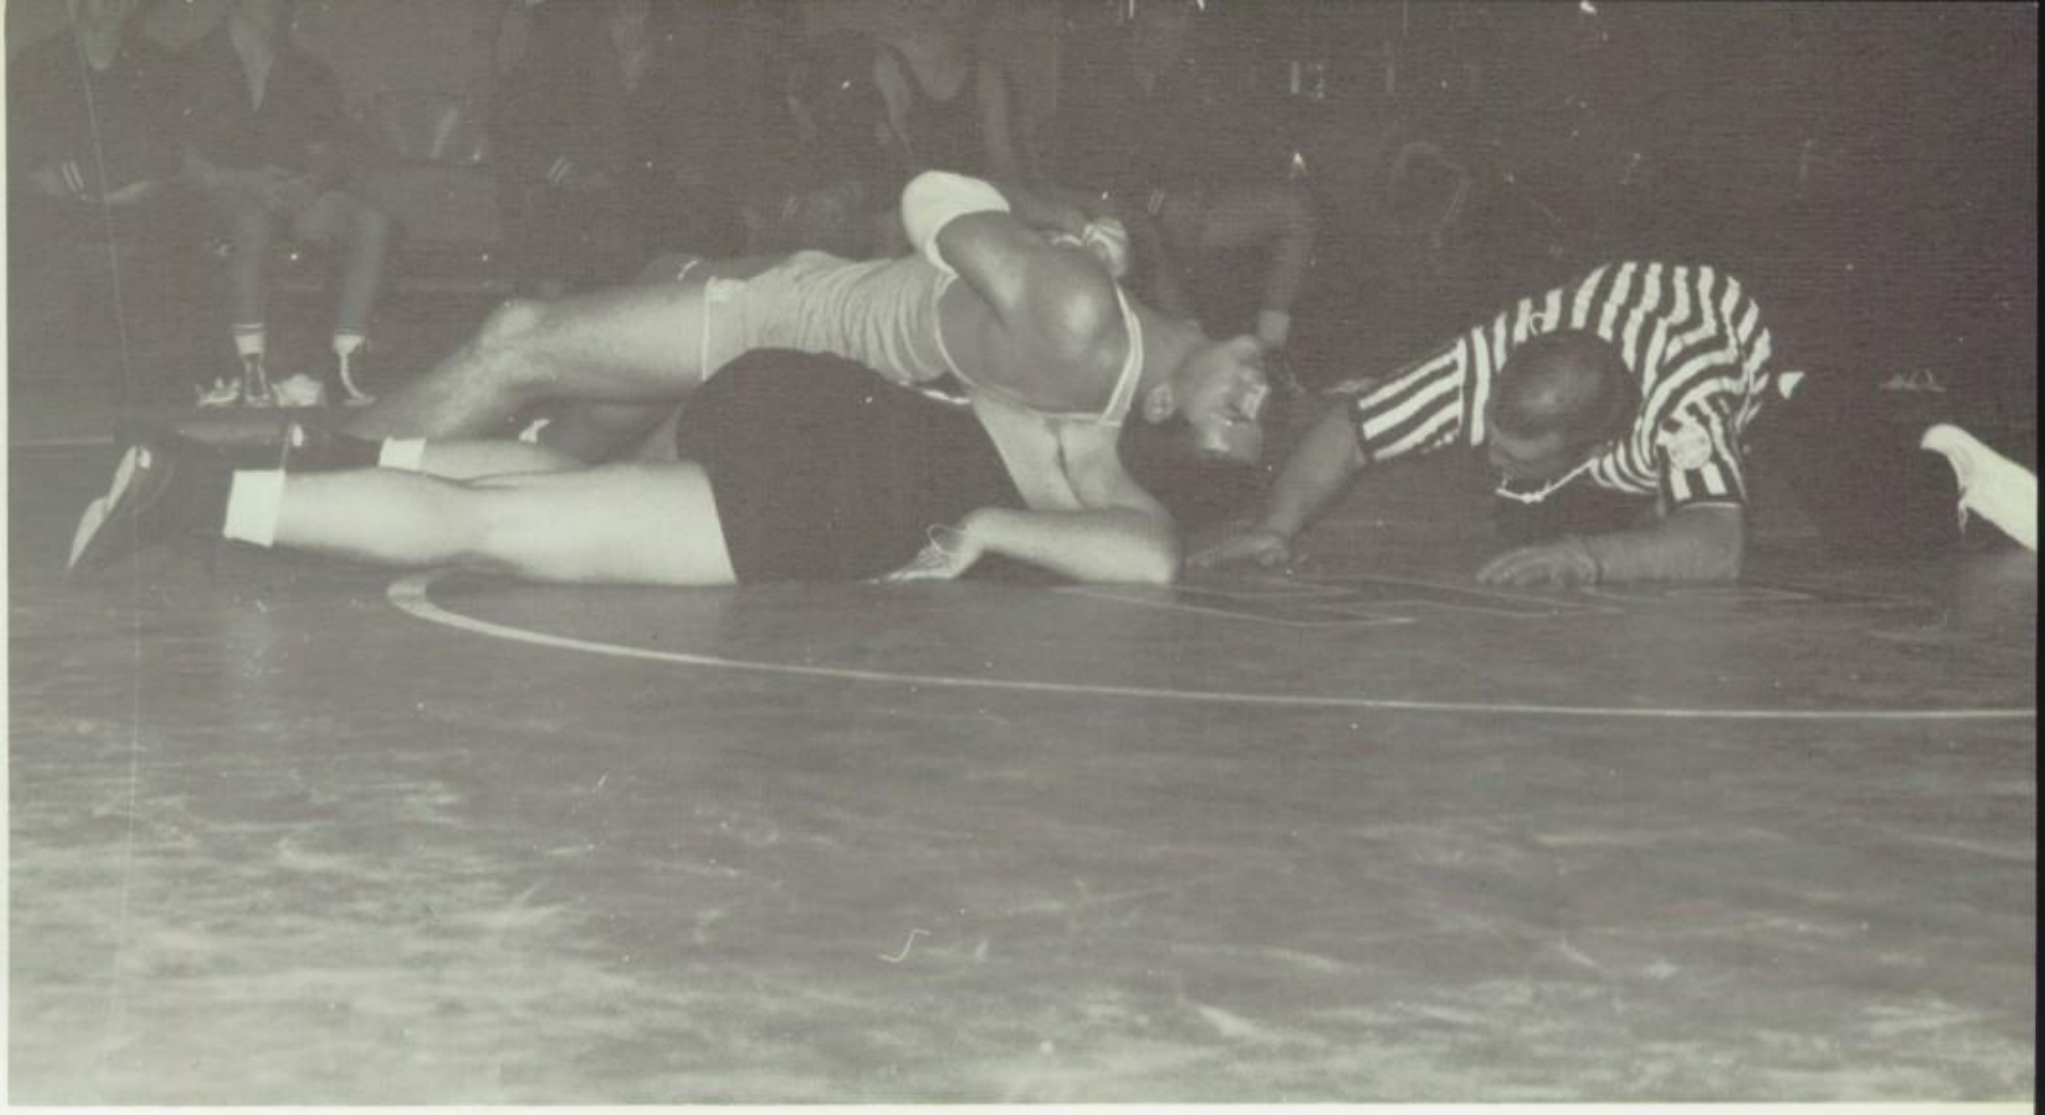
Hopes of a league title were all but eliminated when Morningside defeated the Titans due to injuries to wrestlers Vernon Johnson, Mike Arena, Mike Lam and Tom Waters. Scott Day and John Berry, however, made CIF finals, in which Day placed fifth.

Coached by Mr. Gary Kimbrell, junior varsity wrestlers enjoyed an excellent season, partly due to the team's clear-cut victory in the Culver City tournament which resulted in a first-place league finish. At the Culver City meet, the Titan's nearest competitor, Beverly Hills, was 28 points away.

JV's placing first in tournament competition were Charles Addison, 141 lbs., Randy Calvert, 178 lbs., Chris Canetti, 194 lbs., and Mark Mailander, heavyweight.



ATTEMPTING TO BRING Torrance opponent to the mat, varsity wrestler Scott Day maintains a firm hold on his ankle while pushing forward. Titans won, 34-19.



VARSITY WRESTLER JEFF JACKSON strains to pull his opponent down and avoid the same fate, as the referee watches closely for the pin. The match was in the Beverly Hills meet, first of the season. Titans, with strong performances, beat the Normans easily, 35-14.

Titan Basketball Record Improves

Improvement and new faces were the most important factors for the Titan varsity basketball team this season. For the first time, there was a varsity team at RHHS which had been together for four years; the results were evident in the team's overall performance. Coached by Mr. Walt Bynum, the team improved greatly over last year, despite a lack of height.

A pleasant surprise was junior Barry Sullivan, who led the team in numerous aspects of play. One highlight of the year came in the La Mirada game when, with no time left on the clock, Sullivan dramatically sank a free throw to give the Titans a last-second victory, 59-58. Other standouts this year were Daryl Arenstein and Jack Baumann, who contributed greatly to the team's efforts.

For the junior varsity, this year was one of reorganization after the loss of the core of last year's squad. Standouts for Coach Jan Krc's team were Pat Boyer, Scott Dean, Ted Guth and Gary Shaw, all of whom competed for top spot on the team.

The team's ability was proved when it placed first in the JV tournament at RHHS, in which the Titans bested several opponets.

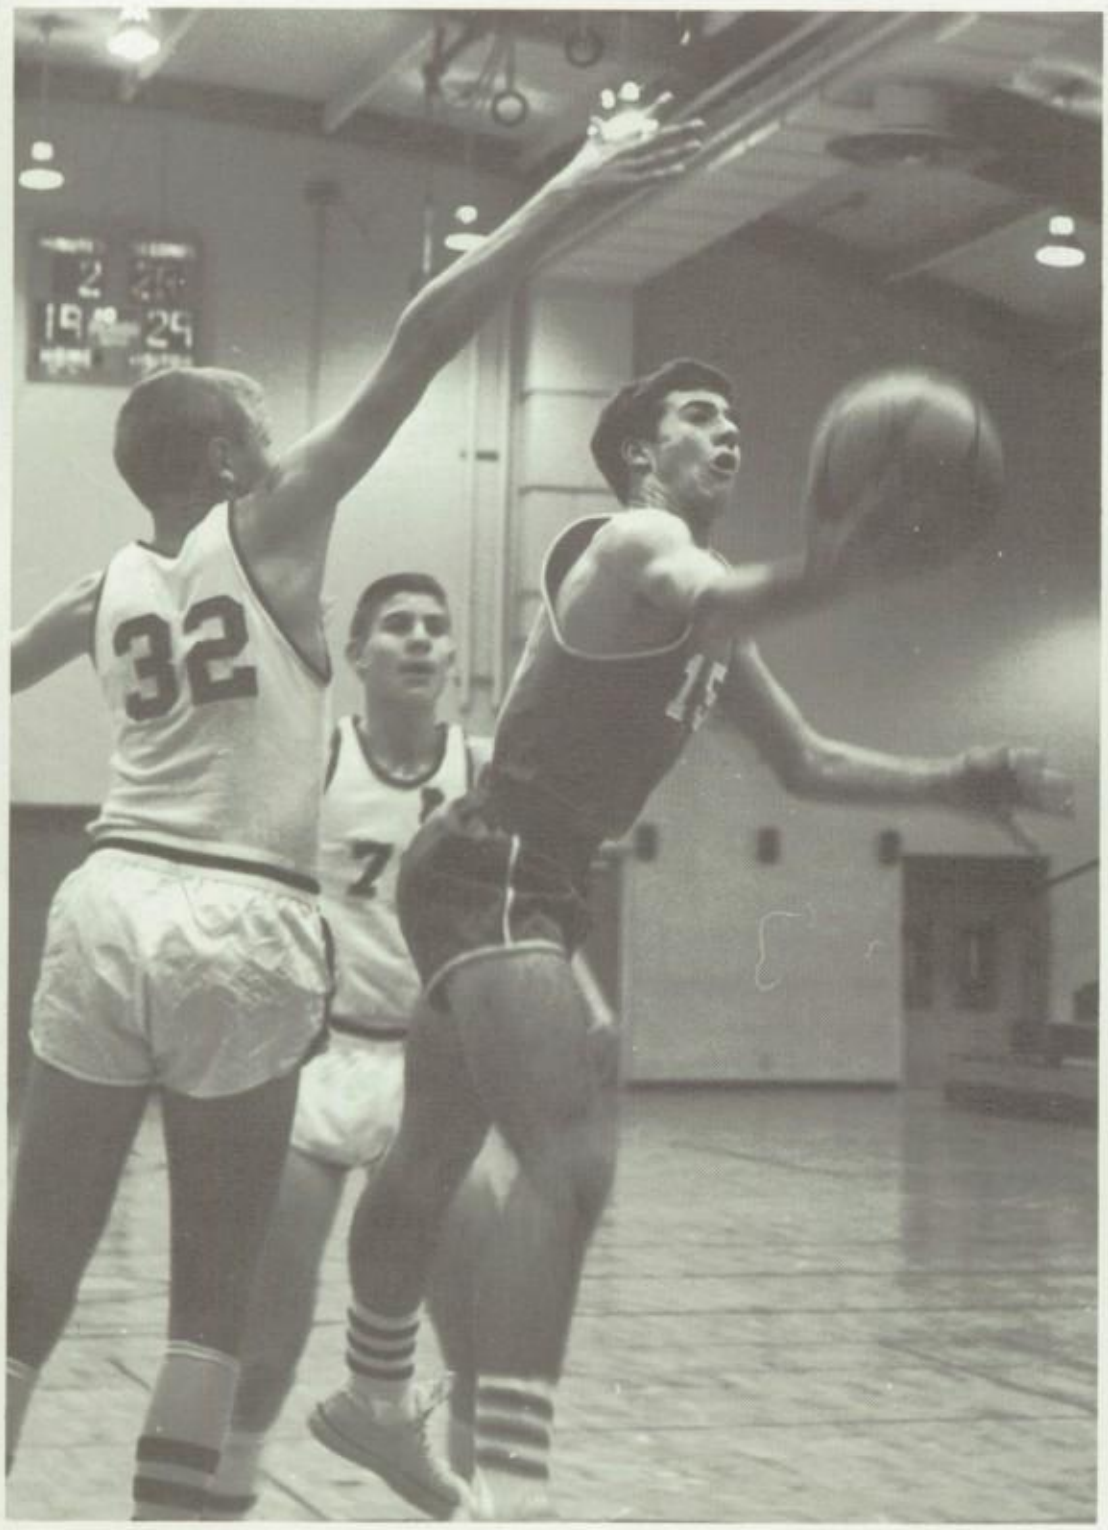
Despite a considerable effort, the Bee basketball team had a somewhat disappointing year. The team's principle problem was low scoring, while its strong point was definitely defense. This improved as the season progressed, as did the team's overall performance. Coached by Mr. Bob Pier, the team was captained and led by Jim Conti. Mike Keith, Tom Swaney and Ross Catron were also outstanding.

After a very slow start, the team improved its record by winning three in a row against Leuzinger, La Mirada and Morningside. The Monarchs had beaten the Titans earlier in the year.

For the Cees, the year was a success, highlighted by the second place finish in the Leuzinger tournament and the all-around excellent play of Steve Nakamoto. Along with Russel Juncal, Nakamoto ranked as the team's best player, according to Coach Gary Hardesty.

One high point of the year came when the Titans ran away from La Mirada, 41-21, preceded by a 42-38 victory over Morningside. Both games were characterized by the outstanding play of Louie Filtreau and Carl Peternell.



TITAN BEE JIM CONTI attempts a lay-up during action in the game with Palos Verdes. Despite Titans' best efforts, the final outcome was a 64-38 loss.

THE PALOS VERDES-Rolling Hills rivalry reached a high-pitched fervor in February when the Titan Cees played their arch-rivals and won, 41-34. Steve Nakamoto of RHHS takes a spill and holds onto ball, while a wildly ecstatic throng cheers him on. Not pictured is the crowd.

SENIOR DICK WILSON executes a forward dive with a half twist from the one meter board. First in 1967 CIF competition, Wilson scored high in diving for the second year.

Varsity Takes League Title

Encouraged by the first place finish of the CIF relay team early in the year, the 1968 swim team developed into an outstanding unit and finished first in Sky League.

In what was perhaps the most important meet of the year, the Titan varsity sank their local rivals, Palos Verdes, 51-37. It was the first time in two years that Palos Verdes had lost a meet, and the first time the Titans had ever beaten them in swimming.

Led by returning swimmers Howard Burns, Bob Gove, Hal Handley and Alex Ross, the varsity had a very good year, characterized by their opening victory over powerful Santa Monica, 60-35. In that same meet the Cees lost 32-42, while the Bees won by a 57-6 tally.

The swimmers had a new head coach, Mr. Wilbur Lucas, who replaced Mr. Dick Keller, the current director of athletics. Assistant coach was Mr. Frank Akins.

Ever since he began diving, Dick Wilson has done little but win. As last year's CIF champion, there was a great deal of pressure on him this year. Doing his best to keep up his reputation for excellence, Wilson had another outstanding year.

Titan Netters Tangle Their Foes

Right in the thick of the CIF race, the Titan tennis team continued its string of good performances. Suffering from an early season set-back with the temporary loss of their number-one varsity singles player, Dusty Rhoads, they began on shaky grounds.

Coached by Mr. Gary Hardesty, the team was slow in reaching its full potential; but with talent such as Jack Krug, Richard Ley, Barry and Stan Owen, the improvement was inevitable. Prior to Rhoads' injury, the team had easily knocked off other top contenders Palos Verdes and Santa Monica.

The loss to Newport, the defending CIF champion, was a close one, even without the aid of Rhoads, and did not in any way rule the Titans out of a CIF championship since it was a non-league encounter.

Despite the erratic start, the team was one of the most capable in the South Bay and certainly the best at Rolling Hills in its short history.

Caton, Waters Top Golf Team

Using the Los Verdes Country Club as its home course, the Rolling Hills golf team had one of its best seasons to date. The RHHS team was a top contender in league play, along with Leuzinger and arch foe Palos Verdes.

Coached by Mr. Jerry Kestenberg, the team opened the season by defeating Fermin Lasuen, 161-170. Following this with a 194-206 trouncing of Lakewood, the stage was set for their victory over Santa Monica, 204-218.

Contributing to the team's success were the outstanding individual performances of returning lettermen Bob Caton and Tom Waters, plus the efforts of newcomer Barry Sullivan. These three served as the backbone of the team.

GETTING "good wood on the ball," Titan Paul Fieri shows his hitting form against Beverly Hills in a game on the Normans' home field. Thanks to timely hitting, the Titans were able to win by a 3-0 margin. Pitcher Mike Maynes contributed with an overpowering two-hitter for RHHS.

Titan Nine Has Pitching Problem

MOVING IN for the tag, Titan varsity first baseman Daryl Arenstein has the play well in hand. Despite a tight defense and relatively good pitching, Titans lost game.

After losing the nucleus of last year's pitching staff, which was the core of the team, the RHHS baseball squad entered the season with a question mark looming over it. Fortunately, the performance of newcomer Ken Bower solved many of the pitching problems. Other starters were Mike Maynes and Derek Wilson, both of whom improved greatly during the season.

At the plate, Daryl Arenstein proved to be very valuable, along with Paul Fieri and catcher Tom Schiff. Coached by Mr. Mike Gillespie, the team showed itself to be defensively sound with the fielding of Arenstein, Gary Beeks and Fieri.

The Titan JV's played out their season under the guidance of Mr. Garry Poe, while the Frosh-Soph team was coached by Mr. Jan Krc. Showing consistency throughout the year, JV's managed to down Leuzinger while the varsity was losing to the same opponent. The Frosh-Soph team participated this year in an informal league consisting of several schools having Frosh-Soph teams, regardless of the student body size.

Spikers Tread On Opposition

Enjoying one of their finest seasons to date, the RHHS track teams represented the school well throughout the year. Coached by Mr. Jacque Osborn, the teams came up with several new faces of merit.

In the varsity shot-put, senior Bernie Vlahakis led the team, setting many school records. Also a standout for the varsity was top hurdler Culley Eaby and pole vaulters Gary Jones and Bill Broadhead.

For the Bees, the hopes of the team were carried largely by Tom Hicks, Bob Mathews and Richard Sax. Sax set records in the 100-yard dash and the 120 low hurdles. The Cees, in the meantime, were led by Mike Doran, Dave Negvesky and Pete Vlahakis.

A high point of the season was the Titans' triangular meet with Aviation and North Torrance. In this meet, the first of the year, many Titan hopes and fears would be partially answered. The results proved to be satisfying to the team, as they went on to win in all three divisions.

Girls' Tennis Team Goes Undefeated

RHHS girls participated in four athletic teams this year, all of which ranked high against competition. By playing in interschool activities, the girls experienced the feeling of competition.

Sponsored by Miss Joan Ohrmund, the girls' tennis team secured the South Bay girls' tennis championship for the second consecutive year by being undefeated in its league. Two outstanding players were seniors Pam Austin and Nancy Olson.

The girls' swim team, led by co-captains Gerri Gove and Leslie Krogh, had an effective year, with the team placing third. Mira Costa was victorious against the team by one point in its last meet, edging them in the race for second place.

The newly-established volleyball team was relatively successful this year, playing against such teams as Beverly Hills, Redondo and Mira Costa. Sponsored by Miss Emily Wierenga, the team placed well in its league.

The girls' basketball team had a successful season in its first year of existence. Led by captain Rosie Beaird and sponsored by Mrs. Tracy Krabacher, the team played against opposition such as North Torrance, Chadwick and South Torrance.

GAA Sponsors Home Sports Day

Participating in numerous athletic activities, the Girls' Athletic Association gave interested girls the opportunity to participate in sports for fun and for real competition. Sponsored by Miss Emily Wierenga, the group featured activities such as tennis, volleyball, softball, archery, badminton and swimming.

Unlike interscholastic sports, membership in GAA is open to all girls. They do not have to have superior athletic ability, but only a sincere desire to have fun through sports activities.

In March, GAA sponsored a sports day which was open to selected girls from the various sports. Another highlight was the GAA banquet held at the end of the year to honor girls who had distinguished themselves on the basis of sportsmanship and athletic ability.

CAUGHT DOZING on the job, TITAN News Editor Katy Hight struggles to meet a newspaper deadline. Publication staff members worked late hours, struggling through Secret Sauce, irate photographers, broken typewriters and lost photographs, to meet their deadlines.

—Headlines from TITAN

Within a year after the class of 1968 graduates, the events described by the headlines above will have faded into the more insignificant recesses of most people's memories. Granted, all these events contribute to the great Experience that is high school; but if the events are remembered, it will not be because of the events themselves, but because of the friendships which these events created, strengthened or destroyed. In other words, the significance of high school life lies in the relationships between people which it brings about. If the DELPHIAN even partially conveyed the importance and predominance of feelings between people, then I am satisfied with the book.

As for putting the DELPHIAN together, those who deserve credit for the production of this book know whom they are. I think the result of their ceaseless labors speaks for itself.

Dan Dixon

Diane,
It's been really great knowing you.
Hope to see you next year. Good luck.
Cathy Horn

Diane,
To the mini skirted miss (also a headache!) Have fun this summer. I will probably only see you at Ben's think you can guess my fillings.
I may I world. (and what you want in this world. (and what you deserve!)
Sally Joncannon (70)

Diane,

It's been fun this semester with you and everyone. I hope maybe that I could see you again sometime next summer because that well be when I come back out here to visit everyone in Calif. But if I don't see you then knowing ya. Have a nice summer and good luck next year in R.H.
Cathy Metzler (90)

Diane,
It has been really
fun knowing you this semester. I hope that this summer we can get together. Well have a lot of fun this summer and good luck forever. Love,
Sally

Diane,
To a really sweet
girl that I have known in Western Civ. Have fun this summer!
I don't know whether you're going to Miralesteo-not, but I hope you are because I am! Good Luck
Love
Nancy

To Diane
Had a lot of fun cheating Ha! Ha!
we will be glad to get out of this class. Nancy Masterson

Hi!
I decided to squeeze into this little corner pal
from P.E. had us
run a fun
even though we had us
trotted) Have a fun
till Sept
Dee

DIANE,
I CAN'T THINK OF ANYTHING TO WRITE, SO I'LL FADE OUT.

Diane,
Fellow sufferer for a semester in English. 'Twas loads of fun, huh? "Now class, I'm warning you!" I still have nightmares.
Luck in the future,
Debbie

Diane,
I hope you figured out your grad in Spanish, I am so sorry if I goofed you up.
Your friend
Maria

Diane,
I'm so glad to know you got to know Art & thought he was pretty good in softball, even though a good umpire. We hope to see ya again.
Laura S.

Diane,
It's been nice knowing you. May be Junior year we will be in the same Geology class. And I may be me will be in the same English class.
Have a great Summer, See you next year.
Sue Olsen

Diane

It's been so nice having you in good old Kitchen 1. We had a lot of fun this year. Have fun during the summer. Come up and see me sometime. We can go riding and you'll have to see the new baby foal. He's due in about 4 weeks. Good luck next year

Stephanie Ruiz
(Kitchen 1 period)

Diane,
I'm sorry, too about all those times when we had those stupid arguements, but without them, our friendship just wouldn't be the same. And without your sensitive feelings you just wouldn't be the same, I'll probably be seeing alot of you this summer with Barb, Maureen, etc. so keep smiling and don't forget to come back next year... See ya

Luv Lorna

Diane,
You're really sweet, Hope
this summer
we see ya
in the Gym Rack
maybe?
Love
Cindy

Diane, well
we got out of Browns class (thank -goodness) I hope you take it easy
this summer
and maybe I'll See you this Summer or next year.
Love
ya
Laura

Diane
To a swell friend all through ~~high~~ school +
part of 8th mostly 8+9.
Hope I see you again
please take care of yourself,
your mom + Samantha.
Get through school as the good student you are now +
I hope to see you again.
Your Best Friend (I hope)
Love, Kathy Bolger
P.S. God Bless You +
Your Mom + cat.

Diane!
It's been a rather peculiar year in Spanish, but we'll have to make the best of it.
Have a good summer + see ya next year.
